ONE SLAIN, 60 HURT AS TROOPS ROUT B. E. F. WITH GAS BOMBS AND FLAMES

ANACOSTIA HUTS FIRED; MEN ARE DENIED RIGHT TO RETURN TO CAPITAL

All Bonus Groups in Western Section of Capital Are Evicted Amid Disorder.

CONCERTED DRIVE FOLLOWS HOOVER EDICT FOR ACTION

Shacks in Pennsylvania Avenue Area Are Also Burned; Reserve Police Added at White House.

By DANIEL B. MAHER.

Tear gas bombs and torches, unleashed by Federal troops in a sweeping offensive, routed the ragged bonus army yesterday from every major encampment in the Capital in a day of wild disorder that took the life of one veteran.

In a relentless drive, infantrymen, cavalrymen and tanks opened the drive against the veterans on Pennsylvania avenue, herded them from the Southwest section and stopped their offensive at Camp Marks, the largest of the bonus army encampments.

In front of Camp Marks, Chief of Staff Douglas A. MacArthur, on orders from a high authority, ordered cessation of the drive, but it was needless, for the 5,000 veterans in the camp were in full retreat. They set fire to their rude shacks and early today the flames were burning a memorial across the sky in what may be the epitaph of the bonus army.

More Than 60 Hurt in Clashes.

Though peace again reigned, the hospitals held the more than 60 suffering victims of the series of clashes that forced the District Commissioners to send a plea for aid to President Hoover, with the consequent call by the Chief Executive for the War Department to put an end to the "rioting and defiance of civil authority."

Though the straggling veterans left their big camp in Anacostia, their attempts to reenter the city proper met with failure. Brig. Gen. Perry L. Miles, in command of the troops before Camp Marks, issued orders that no bonus members would be permitted to cross the bridges into the city.

Tanks and cavalry blocked the Eleventh street and Pennsylvania avenue bridges. Their only road of further egress was toward Baltimore and Annapolis. Police guarded the Benning Bridge.

Infantrymen Use Tear Bombs.

Dropping tear gas bombs to the right of them and to the left of them, the infantrymen had routed the veterans from every camp in the Western section of the city, and the desolation was completed by soldiers who laid waste the encampment with torches.

Toward midnight the cavalrymen and foot soldiers were in possession of all encampments in the city, with the exception of Camp Bartlett in Anacostia, which is privately owned, and to which the veterans were flocking for shelter.

As in their tactics against the other camps, the soldiers at Anacostia laid down a heavy barrage of tear gas as the veterans fled for cover. Women and children had been removed from the camp an hour before.

Soldiers in Possession.

Early today Camp Marks was shorn of all the huts that had been the homes of the veterans for the last two months. Only soldiers were in possession of the camp.

Shortly after the troops' arrival a truce had been made to postpone for one hour the forcible evacuation of the camp. Gen. Miles announced no further onset would be undertaken until today.

The change of orders was not his, he said, but came from above. Gen. MacArthur, at the close of the day, reported to President Hoover on the military maneuvers of the day and said he had acted only to "prevent a grave situation."

Onlookers Cheer and Boo.

The troops reached the Anacostia camp shortly after 10 o'clock. As they reached the Anacostia end of the bridge a crowd impeded their way; the troops hurled tear gas bombs.

Cheers and boos from the thousands of onlookers greeted their arrival. Women and children ran back screaming. They turned into the parkway, with the cavalry in their wake. In a few minutes the torches were touched to several shacks near the entrance to the camp.

Repossessed Territory Guarded.

The repossessed Federal territory in the heart of the city was being guarded by patrols as the onslaught of Camp Marks began with Gen. MacArthur at the head of the troops.

As the soldiers went down the steep embankment into Anacostia parkway they were followed by the cavalry and motor lorries.

Commander Edward Atwell, head of the camp, who had earlier urged his men to dig up their guns and fight, capitulated: "Give way, boys, give way, they've got the tanks and you haven't got a chance in hell."

Gen. MacArthur sent a messenger to Atwell saying he had orders to evacuate the camp and that he would give those who remained an hour to leave the property.

Meanwhile, the cavalry surrounded the camp in a great semicircle, silhouetted by the lights of fire engines against the blackness of night. Spectators were protected against possible injury by police and soldiers who pushed them back one-half mile from the scene of action.

Gen. MacArthur said he believed that if President Hoover had not taken his decisive action when he did "the Government would have been threatened." The President, he said, had gone the limit

REPORT OF WALKER DEMANDS ACQUITTAL

Hot Document to Roosevelt Tells of Being Object of "Political Manhunt."

Albany, N. Y., July 28 (A.P.).—Protesting in fiery language that he had been made a "political football" and a "target of hostility and misrepresentation," Mayor Walker tonight demanded of Gov. Roosevelt complete exoneration of charges on which his removal is sought.

This was his reply to the case brought against him by Samuel Seabury, counsel of the Republican-controlled State legislative committee appointed to investigate sensational allegations of corruption in New York City.

The mayor's answer and the governor's action hold national significance because, although Roosevelt has declared he would be influenced by no political consideration, the case has been injected into the presidential campaign.

The 27,000-word document was packed with caustic adjectives, ringing denunciations and sweping denials of all the accusations made against him.

Repeatedly he sandwiched in between bits of legal defense, open attacks on Seabury. Walker, a Tammany sachem, openly charged the entire city inquiry was motivated by the Republican party.

"Mr. Seabury merely sought gossip and scandal he thought might reflect upon James J. Walker personally," the mayor wrote.

He condemned Seabury's methods. He denounced Seabury's "manhunt," his "dragnets," his "star chamber proceedings" and his "plan of calumny."

The whole purpose of the investigation, which Walker pointed out had cost the State $750,000, was roundly condemned.

"This partisan political committee," he wrote, "was created * * * for the express purpose, by sensational charges and if possible by spectacular testimony, to blacken the reputation of the city administration and thus divert public attention from those

Maj. A. W. Robertson In Race for Congress

Lexington, Va., July 28 (A.P.).—Maj. A. Willis Robertson, State commissioner of game and inland fisheries, today authorized the Rockbridge County News to announce his candidacy for Congress from the new Seventh Virginia District.

He will also be a candidate to fill out the unexpired term of Henry St. George Tucker, Tenth District representative, who died last week. Maj. Robertson is the second candidate to enter the field for the unexpired term. Yesterday Herbert L. Smith, for ten years secretary to the Tenth District representative, announced his desire to succeed his former employer.

C. A. MILLER NAMED R. F. C. PRESIDENT

Utica Banker and Lawyer to Fill Dawes' Post; Directors Confer.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday completed the reorganization of the $3,800,000,000 reconstruction corporation, naming Charles A. Miller, banker and lawyer, of Utica, N. Y., as the seventh member of its board of directors.

Miller, a Republican, will be elected president of the corporation, filling the post left by Charles G. Dawes. Announcement of this choice followed a meeting between the President and the corporation directors in the Cabinet room of the White House.

Present, in addition to the President and Miller, was Atlee Pomerene, Ohio Democrat, whose recent appointment to the corporation's directorate threw nominal control of the board away from the Republican members. Pomerene will be named chairman.

Although no longer legal members of the board, Eugene Meyer, former chairman, and Paul Bestor, a former director, also were present, as were all the directors except Jesse Jones, of Houston.

The conferees, as they left the White House, would say nothing ex-

ARMY OF 3,000 MEN MOBILIZED FOR RIOT

Infantry, Cavalry and Tank Corps Sent Here From Nearby Forts.

Rioting bonus marchers yesterday called out one of the largest concentrations of military force in the Washington area ever known in peace time.

Besides the contingent of nearly 800 soldiers detailed to drive the B. E. F. from their camps, about 2,700 additional from Fort Meade, Fort Humphreys and Fort Howard, in Baltimore, were hurried to Fort Myer to be held in readiness in case of trouble.

After the order to call out the troops had been issued yesterday, 300 of the Third Cavalry, 400 of the Twelfth Infantry, and a platoon of tanks, manned by 40 men, entered the Capital from Fort Myer in the early afternoon.

Then more troops were ordered to Fort Myer to await commands. Those from Maryland reached Washington in 40 army trucks shortly before 9 o'clock last night and were sent on to the post in Virginia.

In this force there were 1,500 from the Thirty-fourth Infantry at Camp Meade and several hundred men from Fort Howard—the rest of the Twelfth Infantry, which had already sent 400 men to the city earlier in the day. In addition, the entire Thirteenth Regiment of Engineers from Fort Humphreys moved up to Fort Myer last night.

The force concentrated was almost the total of the approximately 3,000 enlisted men and 700 officers on duty close to Washington.

Army officers in charge said they thought the troops already in Washington were sufficient to care for the situation, but the entire force was ready on an instant's notice.

Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commandant of the Third Corps Area, with headquarters in Baltimore, and Judge Advocate General Col. John D. P. Quinlan, of his staff, arrived in Washington late yesterday on orders from the War Department.

Col. Quinlan is an acknowledged expert on riot conditions and martial law operations.

Lieut. Col. Heber H. Rice, of Chevy Chase, acting judge advocate general,

Statement of President On Ordering Out Troops

President Hoover yesterday issued the following statement:

For some days police authorities and Treasury officials have been endeavoring to persuade the so-called bonus marchers to evacuate certain buildings which they were occuping without permission. These buildings are on sites where Government construction is in progress and their demolition was necessary in order to extend employment in the District and to carry forward the Government's construction program.

This morning the occupants of these buildings were notified to evacuate and at the request of the police did evacuate the buildings concerned. Thereafter, however, several thousand men from different camps marched in and attacked the police with brickbats and otherwise injuring several policemen, one probably fatally.

I have received the attached letter from the Commissioners of the District of Columbia stating that they can no longer preserve law and order in the District.

In order to put an end to this rioting and defiance of civil authority, I have asked the Army to assist the District authorities to restore order.

Congress made provision for the return home of the so-called bonus marchers, who have for many weeks been given every opportunity to free assembly, free speech and free petition to the Congress. Some 5,000 took advantage of this arrangement and have returned to their homes. An examination of a large number of names discloses the fact that a considerable part of those remaining are not veterans; many are Communists and persons with criminal records.

The veterans among these numbers are no doubt unaware of the character of their companions and are being led into violence which no government can tolerate.

I have asked the Attorney General to investigate the whole incident and to cooperate with the District civil authorities in such measures against leaders and rioters as may be necessary.

Commissioner's Letter.

July 28, 1932.

The President:

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia regret to inform you that during the past few hours, circumstances of a serious character have arisen in the District of Columbia which have been the cause of unlawful acts of large numbers of so-called "bonus marchers," who have been in Washington for some time past.

This morning officials of the Treasury Department, seeking to clear certain areas within the Government triangle in which there were numbers of these bonus marchers, met with resistance. They called upon the Metropolitan Police force for assistance and a serious riot occurred. Several members of the Metropolitan Police were injured, one reported seriously. The total number of bonus marchers greatly outnumber the police, the situation is made more difficult by the fact that this area contains thousands of brickbats and these were used by the rioters in their attack upon the police.

In view of the above, it is the opinion of the major and superintendent of police, in which the Commissioners concur, that it will be impossible for the Police Department to maintain law and order except by the free use of firearms, which will make the situation a dangerous one; it is believed, however, that the presence of Federal troops in some number will obviate the seriousness of the situation and result in far less violence and bloodshed.

The Commissioners of the District of Columbia therefore request that they be given the assistance of Federal troops in maintaining law and order in the District of Columbia.

Very sincerely yours,
L. H. REICHELDERFER,
President, Board of Commissioners, of the District of Columbia.

LEADER IS DETERMINED IN VETERANS' ROUT

WATERS SAYS BONUS MEN WILL CARRY ON

Lays Blame for Bloodshed at White House Door; Gives Up Control.

(Associated Press.)

From Walter W. Waters, of Portland, Oreg., the titular commander of the "bonus expeditionary force," came the assertion last night that "no matter what may happen from now on, the B. E. F. will carry on."

"If driven from Washington," he said in a statement, "it will organize elsewhere and continue the fight for justice for the veterans and the common people of the United States. We have gone too far now to quit."

The Waters statement, telephoned to newspaper offices, included the assertion that a life was sacrificed "to serve the political interests of the administration."

The one-time dictator of the bonus army watched from the sidelines while the men who formerly paid him allegiance swept completely out of his control.

Before Federal troops arrived to push former service men off their encampments in front of a cloud of tear gas, Waters threw up his hands in a gesture of defeat. He said frankly that he no longer had control over the men.

Watches From Sidelines.

Accompanied by a handful of his aids, Waters viewed the swiftly breaking developments, which early resulted in the death of a war veteran, from the sidewalks about the trouble-ridden vicinity.

Asked about the day's happenings, he merely said:

"The men got completely out of control. There was nothing and is nothing I can do to control them."

In his statement later he said:

"Every drop of blood shed or that may be shed in days to come as the result of these events can be laid directly on the threshold of the White House.

"The B. E. F. had been organized on strictly American lines of respect for law and order and is pledged to uphold American institutions.

Under Strictest Orders.

"They were under strictest orders to conduct themselves in orderly manner in the event of attempted forcible evacuation and to offer nothing but passives resistance, but the administration saw fit to issue orders for forcible evacuation of the Pennsylvania avenue billets, making no provision for other billets, nor allowing us time to make such provision, nor were we allowed the time to prepare the minds of the men for what was to occur despite the previous semiconciliatory attitude on the part of the authorities.

"I have devoted these recent weeks to organization work that would prevent such an occurence, as the men of the B. E. F. were entirely in accord with the ideals that had been laid down.

"But all this has been offset and a life sacrificed to serve the political interests of the administration."

London Papers Carry Banners on Bonus Riot

London, July 29 (U.P.).—Morning newspapers today used banner-line stories to tell of the troops being called out in Washington to evacuate the bonus army camps.

In many instances the Washington story took precedence over the imperial conference story from Ottawa. Newspapers featured pictures of bonus marchers sleeping outside the Capitol. None of the newspapers commented on the situation.

Bartlett Explains His Offer to B. E. F.

Declares He Does Not Want to Aid Unless Move Is Approved by U. S.

Announcement yesterday by the bonus marchers that they expected to form a semipermanent camp at Camp Bartlett, Twenty-second street and Alabama avenue southeast, brought forth a statement by John H. Bartlett, owner of the tract of 30 acres. The announcement was made to Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police to clear up the reasons motivating Mr. Bartlett in proffering the camp.

Mr. Bartlett, a former Assistant Postmaster General and a former Governor of New Hampshire, included in his statement a veiled threat that unless the bonus men preserved the peace they would be ejected from the grounds. The announcement in full follows:

"I do not wish my cooperation with you to be misunderstood. I permitted the former service men to occupy my 30-acre estate solely at your written request, in order to help out in a critical situation. I assumed then, and I assume now, that what you do is agreeable to the Government and to the District. I will not sell, lease or permit to occupy, unless it is to help the Government, the District and your organization, to work out a peaceable solution of what may be serious. I will gladly cooperate to help these unfortunate people, but I can not go counter to the Government. I look to you solely, and not to the former service men, to handle my property in the interest of peace, and to restore it to me when it has served that humane and patriotic purpose."

Inspector's Children Get Tear Gas Fumes

The son and daughter of Inspector L. I. H. Edwards were affected last night by a concentrated burst of tear gas tossed by a Fort Myer cavalryman on Eleventh street southeast below Pennsylvania avenue. The youth, Harold Edwards, 19, of 1210 Potomac avenue southeast, collapsed and was removed to Casualty Hospital.

Harold and his sister had gone out for an extra paper. They were caught in a group of bonus marchers running before the soldiers. One of the troopers tossed a can of tear gas which landed at their feet and exploded. Young Edwards tried to outrun the fumes, but was overcome.

Scenes at Evacuation of Camp Marks in Anacostia

TROOPS REQUESTED BY COMMISSIONERS

Responsibility for Call Taken by Board Which Stays in Continuous Session.

The two District Commissioners who assumed responsibility for asking the White House for Federal troops to drive the bonus marchers out of their camps and to burn their homes, spent all yesterday afternoon and evening closeted in one of their spacious offices and obtained periodical reports on the "war" from Ira Keck, personal aid of Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, retired chief of the United States Cavalry.

From the corridor leading into their office the flames of the southeast camp, rising high into the heavens, were visible. Reports of casualties, death, rioting, the use of tear gas on bystanders drifted in via telephone.

Although the strains of the day's developments showed plainly in their faces, they spoke of the bloodshed with the matter-of-factness of a general's staff directing a campaign in warfare.

Keep Late Watch.

When asked what they intended to do with the veterans after the army had driven them out of their temporary homes, Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman, said that the police and the soldiers would see to it that they occupied no private property or caused any trouble to Washington residents. Pressed as to the ultimate destination of the evicted bonus marchers, the District heads said they supposed they would return home.

While the action of the Commissioners apparently had the indorsement of Maj. Gen. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, it was Dr. Reichelderfer and Gen. Crosby who kept watch until 11 p. m. They likewise took the initiative in calling for the troops.

Early last night Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the board, said that the matter of withdrawing troops is now entirely out of their hands and up to the War Department. He refused to say, however, that the Commissioners are entirely out of the affair.

Secrecy Is Defended.

The call for troops was made to the White House after the Commissioners had conferred with Gen. Glassford and then made a first-hand inspection of the trouble in the Federal triangle. This was about noon.

The Commissioners defended their secrecy in ordering Gen. Glassford Wednesday night to take action yesterday morning by stating that they were merely adopting good military strategy. They could not explain their moves to the "enemy" in advance, they said.

While the District heads were in doubt Wednesday as to their legal authority to evict the veterans from Federal property, they stated last night that they were confident the police were acting legally yesterday morning. The Commissioners said they had received advice from a number of competent sources.

It was explained that police entered the building in which the bonus marchers were housed to protect the Treasury Department agents who began wrecking the structure after the contractor had refused to take charge until the veterans were evicted. The contractor had contended that he could not obtain workmen's compensation insurance if he began work before the service men left.

People can take advantage of your offer the same day it appears in a Post Classified Ad. Phone National 4205.

Attorney General Orders Arrests of Law-Breakers

Attorney General Mitchell issued the following statement:

The Department of Justice is engaged in coordinating the work of District and Federal officials. The department is directing its attention not only to the summary eviction of trespassers on Government property, but to the enforcement of all criminal laws and ordinances of the District, many violations of which by members of the "bonus army" are occurring.

During the time that Congress was in session and the members of the "bonus army" were justifying their presence on the ground that they desired to petition Congress for redress of alleged grievances, there was a natural disposition to show extreme consideration to these men. That time has gone by. Congress has adjourned, and there is no longer any excuse or justification for the assemblage in Washington of these men. They are trespassers on Government property, much of which is immediately needed for erection of public improvements.

Many of them are violating the laws of the District by holding unlawful assemblies in the street, obstructing traffic, disorderly conduct, begging and other acts. Their refusal to leave Government property and resisting removal is an offense against the law punishable by fine and imprisonment.

It is high time this conduct should end. There is no reason why these men should not obey the laws of the District just as every resident of the District is expected to do. In removing them from Government property entirely lawful methods are available. Under the law it is not necessary to resort to the court for ejectment decrees. Methods are legally prescribed for the summary removal and the necessary steps will be taken accordingly.

In addition to the steps looking toward their eviction because of their trespassing on Government property, steps are being taken to coordinate the work of arrest and prosecution for any and all violations of the law.

Arrest will be made for all violations, and arrangements have been made for cooperation between the district attorney's office and prosecuting attorneys in the office of the corporation counsel to expedite these cases, present them to the courts and to urge substantial sentences and to arrange proper prison accommodation in the District Jail, the Occoquan Workhouse and the prison at Lorton for any number of persons who may be convicted.

No one has any disposition to be unduly harsh in these matters, but it is hoped that these men and their leaders will realize that the illegal possession of Government property and other unlawful conduct can not be longer tolerated and that they will yield to the inevitable and obey the law.

HASHKA HOMELESS VETERAN OF CHICAGO

Was Recruited at Breadline With 200 Others; Native of Lithuania.

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—William Hashka, killed by Wasington police during rioting today near the Capitol, was believed by Robert Cook, organizer of one of the local contingents of bonus demonstrators, to have been a homeless veteran recruited from the breadlines of Halstead street, Chicago.

About 200 itinerant veterans were organized here during the Republican convention, and after staging a demonstration before the headquarters of the party's resolutions committee left for Washington on freight cars.

"Many of these men were from the breadlines," Cook said, "and therefore were unregistered as part of the contingent here. My recollection is, however, that a veteran named 'Haska' joined the group along with a number of others from the Halstead street lines."

At the law offices of W. W. O'Brien, where a partial list of members of the contingent was kept, no "Haska" was recorded. Neither was he known at any of the local veterans or American Legion posts.

The contingent referred to by Cook was widely publicized at the time for having "crashed" the convention.

Trooping into the lobby of the Congress Hotel, where the committee had headquarters, the ragged and dusty former soldiers made their way through Peacock Alley to the committee rooms and loudly demanded an audience.

After some delay, a member of the committee received O'Brien, who acted as spokesman for the group and presented a resolution demanding immediate adjustment of the bonus. The veterans then filed out of the hotel in an orderly manner.

A sister-in-law of the slain man tonight verified reports he had been recruited from a lodging house for itinerants to join the bonus marchers.

She said Hashka was a native of Lithuania, had become a United States citizen before the World War, and served with the American forces overseas during the conflict.

He was divorced, she said, and had one daughter, Loretta, aged 11, who is staying with her mother, whose place of residence was not known.

Formerly a butcher, the sister said, he had been unemployed for some time.

GLASSFORD REGRETS VIOLENCE OUTBREAK

Two Months of Peaceful Cajoling of Veterans Lost in Gas Bombs.

Dismayed by the sudden outbreak of lawlessness and rioting among the veterans yesterday, when the last shred of organized leadership and control vanished before the stern demands of the Federal authority, Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford gave up his long campaign of peaceful persuasion last night with a sigh which was half victory and half defeat.

As two trying months of joshing, cajoling and good-humored coaxing went up in a puff of smoke and a cloud of tear gas, and long-legged "Happy" Glassford tried to call the next turn. He bemoaned the fact that the troops would turn the veterans out on the street, where they still would be "on the hands of the police, but not so well handled."

Reviewing his long service as master of ceremonies for all manner of parades and protests since Congress assembled last December, the police chief told newspapermen last night:

Two Months Without Bloodshed.

"I handled the situation for nearly two months without bloodshed. In carrying out orders issued this morning, I am sorry to say they resulted in the death of one man, serious injury to another and injuries to several policemen."

Still astride the roaring blue motorcycle which has been almost his only headquarters since Representative Wright Patman, of Texas, encouraged the first feeble contingent of the B. E. F. to add to the number, Glassford darted hither and yon late yesterday directing the mopping up process on lower Pennsylvania avenue. Now he would stop to consult the commander of a police squadron, and again he was in conference with members of the veteran army.

Once his badge was snatched from his shirt in a hand-to-hand skirmish with the rioting veterans, but Glassford still held out hope that he could restore order by the old methods.

Not until Commander Waters himself threw up his hands in despair did the police chief finally give up hope and accept the fact that his veterans had stepped out from under him, and left in their place a snarling mob.

Resignation Rumors Denied.

Following a hastily summoned conference of the District Commissioners last night, reports were circulated in the corridors of the District Building that Glassford had interpreted yesterday's action of the Commissioners as an expression of lack of confidence. Rumors then he would resign immediately, however, could not be confirmed. Members of the conference were silent on the subject.

Glassford narrowly escaped a pistol bullet during a melee in the Sixth street sector yesterday when a patrolman, dazed by falling bricks, leveled his weapon at his chief.

"I was about 20 yards away from the building when I heard a commotion," he said. "I went to the second floor. One officer had started up the steps and near the rear I heard some one say, 'Let's get him.'

"The officer had attempted to stop a commotion between two veterans. As he started up the steps, bricks began to fall on him and as I leaned over the railing above, I saw him fall and draw his gun. He fired two shots. Two other policemen rushed up with their guns in hand.

Holds Shooting Justified.

"I leaned over and shouted, 'Stop that shooting.' When I did that one of my men, who apparently was dazed by the bricks and thought I was a veteran about to throw at him, turned his revolver straight at me. I ducked behind a pillar, for fear he might shoot before he realized who it was."

The police chief estimated the officer on the ground shot at his assailant from a range of about 4 feet.

"An investigation will have to be made to determine how many shots were fired," he added.

Glassford said he believed the shooting justified.

was left in charge of the Third Corps Area office in Baltimore.

During the movement of troops against the bonus camps, Capt. Thomas J. Betts, a general staff officer, was sent to maintain telephonic communication with the Secretary of War's office, where Mr. Hurley awaited developments.

Hurley Gets Reports.

"The troops went into possession at 4:30 p. m.," his first dispatch declared. It was sent from the Pennsylvania avenue and Third street area, where the soldiers first took hold.

"They consist of the Third Cavalry, from Fort Myer. They are advancing down Pennsylvania avenue, and the head of the column is at Sixth street. The troops are in fighting order, with rifles and sabers mounted."

Later he reported: "The troops have deployed. Apparently there is no resistance."

COOLIDGE MAY HELP HOOVER IN CAMPAIGN

G. O. P. to Start Intensive Drive Aug. 11; Democratic Criticisms Assailed.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Republican campaign forces will launch on August 11 an "aggressive, active and energetic campaign," which Everett Sanders, national chairman, is "very confident" will sweep President Hoover to victory.

Calvin Coolidge, who in the last three years has rarely appeared in the political spotlight, may take some active part in the drive to reelect his White House successor.

Sanders, puffing on a cigar and mopping his forehead, sat in a hotel room today and discussed these and other phases of his plans.

Meantime, in Pittsburgh, James Francis Burke, general counsel for the national committee, spoke of "Democratic desperation" in an attack on President Hoover's critics.

"Determined to Criticize."

He said there was "no more amazing evidence of such Democratic desperation" than the comments of Democratic leaders on President Hoover's appointment of former Senator Pomerene to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

"No matter what the President does," Burke added, "they are determined to criticize.

"The fact is, the appointment is another evidence of the President's determination to lead the country out of its present dilemma, regardless of partisan politics."

Sanders, here to map out Eastern campaign plans, said he would spend the week-end at the Coolidge homestead in Plymouth, Vt.

"Will you ask the former President to do some stumping on President Hoover's behalf?" he was asked.

"I am not going up there for any specific purpose," he replied, "but I suppose Mr. Coolidge will take some part in the campaign all right."

Maine Election Important.

Speaking of natoinal plans, he said: "The groundwork is being laid now. As soon as President Hoover delivers his acceptance speech on August 11 we will start an aggressive, active and energetic campaign.

"Our intensive speaking campaign will begin about the middle of September.

"The national committee, of course, will depend largely on the State committees for the organization work. It will be up to the State units to work out the method of getting out the vote—the machinery of the election."

He said outside speakers would be sent into Maine to aid in the ballot drive there. The Maine State election is held in September and the results are often taken as an indication of "which way the wind is blowing."

The Democratic campaign managers have not indicated how much of their strength will be thrown into the Maine fight.

One Killed, 3 Hurt, in Auto Accident.

San Leandro, Calif., July 28 (A.P.).—Pedro Cormiga, 27, of Los Angeles, member of a wealthy Argentine family, was killed and three companions were injured by the overturning of his motor car on a boulevard today. Dr. Oscar Vinas, of Los Angeles, president of the Argentine delegation to the Olympic games, suffered a possible fractured skull. His condition was described as critical.

MR. TWITCHELL ON AUTO AMBULANCES.

Mexico City.—Roberto Benitez was struck by an automobile here last night. As he struggled to his feet he was hit by another car. He was then placed in an ambulance which ran into a car and threw him into the street again.—Newspaper dispatch.

* * * *

MR. ROBERTO BENITEZ,
Mexico City, Mexico.

Dear Sir: It ought to teach you a lesson. The next time you are struck by an automobile you just keep your head down until the traffic eases up. These modern-day autoists will take no nonsense from pedestrians.

* * * *

A pedestrian has no rights today, anyhow, and the sight of one in the street is very annoying to automobilists. But when a pedestrian is knocked down by a car and immediately gets up as if nothing had happened it makes other drivers see red. The minute you got to your knees you probably aroused the resentment of a dozen autoists who went for you at once, and you were lucky that you were not hit again.

* * * *

HOWEVER, what I want to warn you especially about is motorized ambulances. Boy, if you know what's good for you don't ever get into one of those things. Fight against it to the last ditch, and when you get into an automobile ambulance the last ditch may be just around the corner. I could have told you that you were sunk the minute you let 'em shove you in one of those vehicles.

There is a secret organization international in scope and made up of ambulance drivers, and they take a secret oath to do their utmost to see that no patient survives the ride from the scene of the accident to the hospital. If the victim hasn't been through a good accident they make a bigger and better one for him.

* * * *

These ambulance drivers get a demerit every time they drive into a hospital yard with the patient still living. In big cities like New York and Chicago they get two demerits, in fact, if the patient is still in the ambulance.

* * * *

I don't know just why the hospitals don't do something about this habit of taking victims for a ride, but they regard it as good, clean fun and say nothing.

* * * *

However, all I am writing you for is to congratulate you on being thrown out of the ambulance, for you were pretty lucky. They generally manage to hit a tree or run into a fire truck or something, in which case the occupant is never even identified. In your case you were tossed out and, I take it, you refused to let them put you back into play again. That was good sense. Once you have the luck to get tossed out of a motor ambulance, stay out by all means.

* * * *

I felicitate you again and hope you will profit by experience. Yours truly,
ELMER TWITCHELL.

HOOVER GETS THREE VIEWS ON ELECTION

Watson, Willys and Johnson Assure Him Chances Are Bright.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover was given three different views yesterday of the chances for his reelection, all of them optimistic.

Representative Wood (Republican), Indiana, said to newspapermen he told the President he believed there was "not a bit of doubt" that he would carry Indiana and the national election. Asked about his own chances for reelection, he replied:

"If I am not elected, then Mr. Hoover will not carry Indiana."

John Willys, automobile manufacturer and recently retired Ambassador to Poland, reported as he left the White House he had told Mr. Hoover he believed his chances of reelection were "growing better every day, just as the economic situation is showing very definite signs of improvement, even though slow."

"I am glad the election is not today, however," Willys said as he departed.

Representative Johnson (Republican), South Dakota, said he presented an optimistic picture of his State to the President, declaring Mr. Hoover "could carry it if the election were held today."

Johnson, who is retiring from the House because of the redistricting of his State which reduces its delegation by one, predicted Senator Norbeck and Representatives Williamson and Christopherson would be reelected, making the State safe for the President.

Duties Ruling Is Asked On Sea-Made Articles

(Associated Press.)

The Supreme Court was asked yesterday to decide whether customs duties can legally be imposed on articles produced on the high seas.

The question was raised by the Procter & Gamble Manufacturing Co., of Cincinnati, on the importation of whale oil used in the manufacture of soap.

BORAH PARLEY PLAN IS BACKED BY GLASS

Debts Revision Might Help U. S., He Says, Citing Losses of Europe.

(Associated Press.)

The view that war debts revisions might be to the interest of this country was expressed yesterday by Senator Glass (Democrat), Virginia, in discussing the proposal of Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, for a world conference to consider debts and other post-war problems.

Talking informally with newspapermen about the Borah proposal, the former Secretary of the Treasury said he had stated "explicitly" in the Senate a few weeks ago that he "dissented from the view that there was to be no readjustment of foreign indebtedness."

"I pointed out," Glass said, "that aside from sentimental aspects of the question it might come to our own essential interests to readjust the indebtedness.

"I made a speech three or four years ago that was widely printed in this country and in Europe when we were considering the settlement with Great Britain in which I protested that we were playing a shylock game.

"Those people paid in blood and we paid in money. They lost 16,000,000 men in dead and wounded and we lost 200,000. They were fighting the same battle for years before we got in.

"Those people fought for the preservation of civilization three years before we went in. It was just as much a war for the preservation of civilization before we went in as after we got in."

Telegraphic Dispatches

New Orleans, July 28 (A.P.).—Two special investigators today absolved officers and crew of responsibility for explosions and fire aboard the oil tanker Rawleigh Warner that killed nine people two weeks ago, but reached no conclusions regarding the cause of the catastrophe.

Manila, July 28 (A.P.).—An apparent suicide victim, Lieut. Robert D. McKnight, who was born in San Francisco in 1895, was found dead of a pistol wound today in his quarters at Fort McKinley. He was single and was the nephew of Mrs. Jennings B. Wilson, wife of Col. Wilson, the adjutant general of the Canal Zone.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Louis Gemeiner, 26, formerly employed as a messenger by Ernst & Co., brokers, was sentenced today to five to ten years in Sing Sing Prison, on a plea of guilty to theft of $56,000 in bonds from the firm. He had worked for the firm only a day and a half, was given the bonds to deliver and nothing was heard from him for months.

Lakehurst, N. J., July 28 (A.P.).—The Navy dirigible Akron returned to its hangar at 7 a. m., Eastern standard time, today after a 60-hour training flight.

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—William Haywood was appointed freight traffic manager of the Illinois Central system today, effective August 1. He succeeds V. D. Fort, who has been selected for the new position of Eastern traffic manager at New York.

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—A resolution urging the suppression of magazines devoted to crime stories was introduced in the city council today.

Hollywood, July 28 (A.P.).—Setting at rest rumors that she might become the bride of Jack Dempsey, Lina Basquettte, film actress, today announced her engagement to Teddy Hayes, boxing trainer. She said no date had been set for the wedding.

Tallahassee, Fla., July 28 (A.P.).—The governor's office announced late today Gov. Carlton had advised Sheriff Baker, of Palm Beach County, to give Filipino farmers, recently ejected from the Everglades, all possible protection under the law. The Filipinos were forced to evacuate their farms when a group of white farmers served them with an ultimatum to get out. The white farmers were said to have feared a larger colony of Filipinos would move into the area.

Detroit, July 28 (A.P.).—Harry Fleisher, whose trial is set for Monday on a charge of murder, will base his defense upon a claim that he was a prisoner in the Reading (Pa.) jail on September 16, 1931, when three gangsters were shot to death in a Detroit apartment house. Notice of the alibi was filed in recorder's court today.

Shenandoah, Iowa, July 28 (A.P.).—George S. Milnor, president of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, said tonight that nothing the corporation could have done in 1931 would have averted the drastic price declines due to the tremendous grain crop of that year.

Pocatello, Idaho, July 28 (A.P.).—Booming of drums and chanting of singers rang through the countryside from two points near here today as members of the Bannock and Shoshone Indian Tribes opened their yearly sun dance ceremonies. Medicine men implore the sun to give spiritual light to the tribesmen. About 75 started at Bannock Creek and Fort Hall. They will continue to dance until sunrise Saturday.

Los Angeles, July 28 (A.P.).—Erwin Liner, accused of the murder July 4 of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Clarke, with whom he lived, pleaded not guilty in superior court today and trial was set for August 19. Liner asserted he was attacked by the couple following a quarrel in which Clarke, retired New Jersey engineer, accused him of seeking Mrs. Clarke's affections.

Des Moines, Iowa, July 28 (A.P.).—Alfred M. Best, New York financial critic, today praised the stability of the insurance business during the depression as "one of the most remarkable and encouraging features in America's economic history."

Pocket Veto Seen For Farm Loan Bill

Hoover Left Office Yesterday Without Signing Measure.

(Associated Press.)

A pocket veto loomed as a certainty last night for a bill to broaden the base of indirect Reconstruction Corporation loans to farmers.

The President left the executive offices late yesterday without placing his siganture on the measure, and unless he signed later without public announcement, the bill died automatically at midnight.

The agriculture bill was the only measure passed during the last days of Congress upon which no action has been taken by the Chief Executive. He is allowed a ten-day period after adjournment in which to approve or disapprove a measure, and if no action is taken the measure is pocket-vetoed.

SHARP GAINS NOTED IN BUSINESS UPTURN

Commodities Rise, Stocks Move Up, More Plants to Resume Work.

(Associated Press.)

Favorable business developments over the Nation yesterday included:

Chicago—Eggs and butter sold sharply higher on the strength of heavy speculative buying. Butter reached the highest point since last March, 19¾ cents for November delivery, and eggs were just under the year's high price at 17 cents a dozen for October delivery.

New York—Cotton sold higher at all centers, with rain reports from Eastern States threatening heavy boll weevil damage, dry goods also sold higher as wholesale demand picked up.

Chicago—Wheat continued upward, advancing ⅝ to 1 cent.

New York—The American dollar displayed marked strength in foreign exchange markets as virtually all European money moved below par. The French franc dropped to such an extent that a flow of gold to the United States from France may be expected, economists said.

New York—The stock market advanced in the most active session since December 18, 1931, despite a wave of profit taking. It was the seventh time the market had moved forward in the last eight trading sessions.

Springfield, Ill.—Registrations in Illinois of new automobiles showed no decline during the summer lull, but have continued at the same rate as in June.

Youngstown, Ohio—The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. reported that small orders would enable the seamless tube mill to reopen today for an indefinite time. The plant has been closed since June 11.

New York—The National Steel Corporation announced that earnings for the first half of 1932 exceeded dividend requirements. The total was $1,153,799, equivalent to 53 cents a share.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.—Several large collieries in the anthracite fields here have posted notices of reopening. Approximately 2,000 men returned to work for the Lehigh Valley Coal Co. They had been idle since May 4.

Bellefonte, Pa.—The Bellefonte Silk Mill resumed operations with 150 men employed after being idle for one year.

New York—An increasing demand for lead, stimulated by record low prices, brought another rise in quotations for the second successive day.

REPORT OF WALKER DEMANDS ACQUITTAL

Walker said his appearance as a witness had been "staged as a climax just before the two national conventions."

He also intimated Seabury's fifteen "conclusions" had been timed so as to embarrass Gov. Roosevelt just before his political future was to be determined by the Democratic national convention.

In denying Seabury's "conclusion" that he had been untruthful and evasive on the witness stand, the mayor said:

"This conclusion is so devoid of fair play, and even decency, that I find it difficult to exercise proper restraint in referring to it. It would ordinarily call for a characterization which might be regarded as unsuited to the dignity of this document, addressed to the governor of this State."

Seabury charged the mayor's acceptance of approximately $225,000 from a brokerage account with Paul Block, newspaper publisher, without investment, was improper because Block subsequently became interested in a corporation which "sought, and procured, approval from the board of transportation of a tile which said company intended to manufacture for use in the subway."

Block Is Close Friend.

"It is difficult to speak of this with restraint," the mayor said, "not merely because an insinuation is made against me, but because it seeks to reflect upon Mr. Block as one who 'might seek favors from the municipal authorities.'

"The record is totally barren of any evidence that he ever did or ever would.

"Mr. Block, who has been my intimate friend for many years, is a man of great wealth, owning and controlling valuable newspaper properties and other enterprises in various parts of the United States.

"He has no need of anything which I as Mayor of the City of New York could give him. He would not ask any favor or consideration to which the slightest impropriety or criticism could possibly be attached, and did not."

Denies Sherwood Connection.

Walker expended hundreds of words in denying Seabury's statements that he concealed his interest in financial transactions of close to a million dollars by having Russell T. Sherwood, missing accountant, handle them for him.

He stated repeatedly that Sherwood was never his personal financial agent.

In answer to Seabury's charge that he had refused satisfactorily to explain the source of the vast sums of money deposited by Sherwood, Walker said:

"When I testified I did not know about Mr. Sherwood's accounts I was under oath, fully cognizant of my responsibility. This sworn testimony may not be arbitrarily rejected.

Seabury charged that as soon as it became known the legislative committee desired to examine Sherwood, the accountant vanished and Walker "failed and neglected to cause his agent to return, or to cooperate with the committee in its efforts to locate him."

In reply Walker said he was in Europe when the subpena was issued for Sherwood, and that he had gone abroad only after being assured by the chairman of the inquiry board his absence would not interfere with the progress of the investigation.

5 Billions in Expenditures.

"Not one witness testified that any act of mine, either of commission or omission, was influenced by improper or illegal or dishonest consideration," he wrote.

Seabury's charge that Walker violated the city charter by holding ten bonds in a company which was awarded a $43,000 city contract brought from Walker the reply:

"The charge that I violated the charter, either in fact or law, knowingly or unknowingly, is untrue."

He said the bonds came into his possession without his becoming aware of the business the company was in; that bonds represent a mortgage on a company and not an interest in it, and that the contract to the firm was awarded on the basis of competitive bidding.

Walker sought to use Roosevelt's decision in removing Thomas M. Farley as sheriff of New York as a boomerang to aid him in his defense.

He contended that a majority of the charges made against him were based on events of his first term and that under a long list of decisions, an official could not be removed for acts occurring prior to his present term of office.

Tammany Backing Is Given Roosevelt

Lauds Both Nominees and "Clarity" of Platform of Democrats.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Tammany Hall unanimously indorsed the Democratic national ticket tonight and called upon all "progressives" in the State, regardless of party, to work for the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner.

The meeting of the New York County Democratic committee held in Tammany Hall lasted only 20 minutes and went off like clockwork. There was not a dissenting voice to the resolution offered by John F. Curry, Tammany Hall leader. The Democratic platform was praised for the "clarity of its declarations, the directness of its statements and the assurances of relief to a Nation in distress."

Roosevelt and Garner, said the resolution, were "seasoned and experienced leaders who are nationally recognized as capable of carrying out the platform, and who merit in every respect the confidence and approval of the people."

Col. Leigh A. Fuller Expires Suddenly

Oswego, N. Y., July 28 (A.P.).—Col. Leigh A. Fuller, 64, U. S. A., retired, died suddenly at Fort Ontario this morning of acute indigestion.

Gen. John J. Pershing, then a lieutenant, was a tentmate of Col. Fuller in Cuba after his appointment as an assistant surgeon October 26, 1896.

NEARBY STATES SET TO MOBILIZE TROOPS

Stragglers Trek to Virginia and 300 Pitch Camp; Maryland Alert.

Officers of Virginia's armed forces arrived in Alexandria last night, ready to mobilize their men in the northern counties if it were necessary to prevent the retreating bonus army from filtering into the area.

Capt. Edward McK. Johnson, commander of the Maryland State police, was already on hand on the Maryland borders of the city, ready to make sure that the marchers do not settle in that State.

Only one large detachment of veterans was reported to be encamped in the nearby counties, 300 men spending the night at Oak Crest, at the intersection of Mount Vernon and Frazier avenues, in Arlington County. Sheriff Howard B. Fields, who went to the camp with several policemen and a few soldiers from Fort Myer, said that he had given them permission to spend the night on the private estate. They will move on in the morning, he said.

All Arlington County's available policemen are watching the Potomac River bridges to prevent disorder and keep the stragglers moving. About 200 have gone to the Potomac yards to catch freight trains away from the city, and about 100 more have gone through the county on foot or in private automobiles.

About 50 men pitched a temporary camp on the road through the Government reservation south of the airport last night. They told police they were waiting for their truck, which they had left behind when they evacuated the billets, and would move away when the truck arrived. When it did, they climbed aboard and rolled away in the direction of Washington, stating they were going to Camp Bartlett.

McCall Frazier, Virginia commissioner of motor vehicles and commander of the State police, left Richmond for Alexandria last night, accompanied by the commander of the State militia.

Capt. Johnson said last night that he had nine State policemen at the District line on the Bladensburg road, ready to keep retreating veterans on the move.

cept that the election of Pomerene to the chairmanship of the board, as forecast by Mr. Hoover, had not yet taken place.

Between conferences, directors continued to press forward in their task of making loans to needy industries and to the States for individual relief. A $3,000,000 loan already has gone forward to Illinois.

Miller, 64, is president of the Utica Savings Bank. After graduating from Harvard in 1890, he was admitted to the bar in Utica and later was chosen vice president of the New York State Bar Association.

While practising law he interested himself in banking and became president of the New York State Bankers Association in 1909.

Miller has been chairman of the regional committee of the Reconstruction Corporation's activities in the Second Federal Reserve District, embracing New York.

Pomerene, Miller and Secretary Mills yesterday held an early morning conference with Mr. Hoover, at which it was said the former's new duties were discussed. The erstwhile Ohio senator and Government prosecutor in the Teapot Dome oil scandal spent the day in conference with his new colleagues before returning to his home for the week-end. He said he would take up his work here in earnest Monday.

EVICTED BONUS VETERANS FORBIDDEN TO REENTER CAPITAL

Firing of Anacostia Huts Ends Wild Day

Troops' Drive to Oust Men Is Begun on Pennsylvania Avenue After Call Issued by President Hoover.

in the exercise of patience before he used force. "I believe he would have been derelict in his duty if he had not acted."

Early today, the veterans, some of them leading children, wandered about Anacostia, unable to get into the city proper because of the guards at the bridges placed there at the request of Superintendent of Police Pelham D. Glassford.

As the soldiers pushed through the shambles of the camp, a hundred or more veterans yelled "If you want us to move, come and push us." Ignoring the taunts of the bonus men, the soldiers advanced and pushed them along.

"You guys will get a medal for this," shouted one veteran.

Another group of veterans pushed into the camp and rallied around a flag. They gave way only when the infantrymen pushed on with fixed bayonets.

Others viewed the conflagration of the camp from a railroad embankment. Some of them talked of coming back with "trigger stuff."

Many Start Back Home.

Many bands of veterans started back home. Truckloads started out, headed for Texas. Others shook fists menacingly at the soldiers, advancing on one side of the fire.

"Yeh, what a country," one yelled.

"This will go down in history," another shouted.

In the midst of the fire one of the veterans played on a harmonica, "When Its Springtime in the Rockies."

Gen. Glassford, his shirt dripping with perspiration, said: "There was no disorder during the evacuation of Camp Marks."

Before leaving Anacostia for the night, Gen. MacArthur made a final inspection of his troops. He then went to the White House with Secretary of War Hurley. After leaving the Executive Mansion with the Secretary of War they held a conference on plans for today.

"That mob was a very angry looking one," MacArthur said.

"It was animated by the essence of revolution.

Praises Action of Hoover.

"The gentleness and consideration with which the men had been treated was mistaken for weakness. They came to the conclusion that they were about to take over in some way either direct control or indirect control of the Government.

"In my opinion if the President had not acted; had he permitted the thing to go on 24 hours more, he would have been faced with a grave situation indeed.

"It would have been a real battle had he waited another week.

"I believe the institutions of our Government would have been very severely threatened.

"I believe it is safe to say he not only reached the end of extraordinary patience but had gone to the very limit in his desire to avoid friction and trouble."

MacArthur estimated that not more than one out of ten of those cleared from the camps yesterday were genuine veterans.

He said that one company of infantry will remain at the Anacostia camp under command of Gen. Miles while the cavalry will return to Fort Myer, its station.

Laid to White House by Waters.

Commander in Chief Walter W. Waters, head of the ragged army, charged that "every drop of blood shed in the day's events could be laid directly on the threshhold of the White House."

He said if the veterans were evicted from Washington they would establish a national headquarters in Johnstown, Pa.

As the cavalry prepared the onset at Camp Marks a courier from Atwell dashed up to Gen. Miles.

"The commander begs you to wait 15 minutes to permit the women and children to leave," said the messenger after a salute to the brigadier general.

"Are you really leaving?" asked Gen. Miles.

"Yes, sir, the women and children are leaving now."

"How long will it take them?"

"Well sir, I hardly know."

Glassford Tents Destroyed.

Most of the property destroyed consisted of national guard tents which were loaned to Gen. Glassford and for which he was personally responsible. He had appealed to the men not to destroy the tents.

As the exodus began, lumbering trucks and automobiles, loaded with veterans, jammed the Anacostia section.

Police threw tear gas bombs into crowds of spectators in the vicinity of Eleventh and N streets southeast, and were hooted by the citizens. In the southwest offensive, spectators who congregated were also dispersed by bombs tossed by the soldiers.

A plot to set fire to the Anacostia business section was reported nipped by police. The sound of splintering wood was heard near a lumber yard adjacent to a line of stores.

Gen. Glassford was informed the veterans were piling wood in such a way as to set fire to the lumber yard. He ordered the boards removed.

Tear gas bombs flung by infantrymen, with fixed bayonets and reinforced by whippet tanks and troops of cavalry, swept the veterans from the billets in the Southwest and Northwest sections in one of the most riotous scenes in the Capital's history.

In a command, which was later withdrawn, to defend the invasions of the bonus camp by the soldiers, Commander Atwell ordered his men to "dig up the gun they had buried." He ordered automobiles arranged in a semicircle at the entrance to the camp, prepared to fight to the last ditch.

"We will kill the first man that steps over the line," said Commander Atwell, as he prepared his men to resist the demolition of the camp.

Capt. Sidney Marks, of the Eleventh Precinct, after whom the camp was named, sent an order to the sprawling encampment at 8:30 o'clock, advising all women and children to be sent from the camp.

Trucks Implanted Across Roads.

Trucks were implanted across the roads leading into the camps to halt the advance of the cavalry and tanks. At 10 o'clock last night the tanks were moving over the Eleventh Street Bridge, intent upon smashing through the barricades.

Behind the trucks the veterans peered, some of them armed with guns, ready to fight off the attack.

In one concentrated push, soldiers from Fort Myer and Fort Washington moved through the shanty-town in Pennsylvania avenue, hurling bombs, before which the veterans beat a reluctant retreat.

Confusion and panic spread through the Southwest section as the retreating veterans tried to make a stand against the superior forces of infantry, cavalry and tanks. When a desperate attempt to halt the retreat was made at Third and C streets southwest, more bombs were hurled into the ragged ranks of the veterans.

Fires Break Out in Camp.

Fires broke out in the camp as the infantrymen with gas masks moved through the area between Third and Fourth streets. Whippet tanks and cavalrymen moved in and occupied the area.

Broadening its line of attack, the troops, after clearing the block bounded by Pennsylvania and Missouri avenues, Third and Fourth streets, immediately began the forcible evacuation of the veterans from the area bounded by Maine and Missouri avenues, Third and Fourth streets.

The quarters of the Second Regiment of the Bonus Army was set on fire at 7:40 o'clock by the cavalrymen, who touched torches to the ramshackle buildings as the men, after orders to move, remained. They fled in panic before the flames and fire apparatus arrived to check its spread. This area is also under jurisdiction of the Treasury Department.

The summoning of troops in the emergency came at the close of a day which saw one veteran killed by a policeman, a policeman seriously injured by a brick hurled by a veteran, and nearly a score of veterans and policemen under treatment for injuries received in two serious outbreaks before the arrival of the troops.

The disorders during the day were attributed by Gen. Glassford, superintendent of police, to the activities of the Communist group headed by John Pace, of Detroit.

Spectators Affected by Gas.

There were no major casualties during the clearance of the downtown camps by the soldiers. A few veterans were picked with sabers and for the most part the veterans and thousands of spectators were affected by the nauseating fumes from the gas bombs.

There were only a few actual combats, the principal weapons of the veterans were taunts and maledictions hurled at the soldiers.

Commander in Chief Waters, young Oregonian, who led the bonus march, announced "the men got out of control," he said. "There was nothing and is nothing I can do to control them."

Waters disclaimed responsibility for his followers' refusal to evacuate the area. He denied responsibility for their resistance to the evacuation order.

Orders Given by Hurley.

The orders to Chief of Staff MacArthur given by Secretary of War Hurley as to his action in dealing with the veterans read:

The President has just informed me that the civil government of the District of Columbia has reported to him that it is unable to maintain law and order in the District.

You will have United States troops proceed immediately to the scene of disorder. Cooperate fully with the District of Columbia police force which is now in charge. Surround the affected area and clear it without delay.

Turn over all prisoners to the civil authorities.

In your orders insist that any women and children who may be in the affected area be accorded every consideration and kindness. Use all humanity consistent with the due execution of this order.

Marine Reserves Were Ready.

In the event the troops were unable to cope with the situation in clearing the densely populated Camp Marks, the Sixth Marine Reserves, called for duty, were standing by. Marines from Quantico were ready to reinforce the soldiers.

Reserves also being held in the Navy Yard, the Marine Barracks, Headquarters Company, and replacement troops were sent to Fort Myer and Fort Washington to stand in readiness for further duty.

Desolation reigned in the crude shanty-town after the soldiers moved through. With flaming brands, they went from hut to hut, setting them afire and leaving behind flames and ruins.

Actual evacuation began at 5:20 o'clock, when the troops began their advance. There was no serious violence for a while. Police pushed the thousands of spectators northward and soldiers directed their efforts at the camp.

Forces Reach Communist Camp.

At 7:30 o'clock the forces had reached the Communist camp at Twelfth and B streets southwest.

John Pace, the leader of the group, is the one who has been directing the White House picketings, which have resulted in disorders near the Executive Mansion.

The soldiers were drawn about the camp, which is hard by the Department of Agriculture edifice.

Special White House Details.

Special details of Metropolitan police were assigned last night to patrol the entire Executive area between Fourteenth and Eighteenth streets and between the south edge of the Mall and H street northwest.

Motorcycle patrols were under orders to keep traffic moving along every thoroughfare, but none of the streets was closed off. The patrol on Pennsylvania avenue directly in front of the White House was supplemented by a reserve force of 20 policemen in Lafayette Park.

A special detail of Secret Service operatives was assigned by Chief William H. Moran to all of the principal concentration points.

Through this arrangement police and Army headquarters were promptly advised of every development in the closing-in maneuver of the military forces.

Guard Watches Center Span.

Before the military forces reached the Anacostia Bridge a strong police guard watched the center span, fearing that the veterans in Camp Marks might attempt to seize and raise the lift.

Commander in Chief Waters called at the tent of Atwell in Camp Marks just before the arrival of the troops.

"You must tell these men not to offer any resistance," he said. "We had bloodshed today and we want no more. Tell the men to leave quietly."

"You know, chief, we have women and children here, and something might happen," replied Atwell.

"Yes, the troops have promised to be careful of them," said Waters.

"O. K.," said Atwell, "but if they come through here hurling tear gas I don't think I will be able to control the men."

Tells Men to Leave.

Atwell, who earlier had told the men to defy police, then went to a platform and said: "Men, the sensible thing to do is to get out. It's no use trying to stand up against steel and bullets."

Waters moved secretly about the encampments because of a report to police that a plot was afoot to put him "on the spot."

Some of the stragglers moved over the Highway Bridge and set up an encampment in Arlington County. Sheriff Howard B. Fields announced he would ask Gov. Pollard for troops if they stay more than 24 hours.

As they plowed through the huts in the Southwest section near Twelfth street, several sharp explosions were heard, possibly of stored small arms ammunition.

Women and children in the building opposite the Bureau of Engraving and Printing were unmolested after Gen. Glassford explained to Gen. MacArthur that the place was tenanted by families of the veterans.

With Fixed Bayonets.

In the Pennsylvania avenue onset tear gas bombs were thrown into the stubborn ranks of the veterans as they refused to budge, while infantrymen, with fixed bayonets, moved into the disputed area. As the acrid fumes of the bombs settled through the hovels the men began to retreat.

Gas masks were donned by the 300 infantrymen from Fort Washington as they moved through the billets. The bombs were hurled into the ranks of the veterans, whose resistance was mostly in the form of taunts and maledictions.

The foot soldiers were in the first line of attack, with the Cavalry backing them up and holding the regained territory. Eyes of police, veterans and spectators were seared as the fumes spread over the area.

Shacks Are Fired.

Fire broke out in a number of shacks on the southwest corner of the area, adding to the confusion. The fire is thought to have been started by veterans who spread gasoline over the shacks and put a torch to them before they evacuated.

A blue haze of gas hovered over the area as the veterans retreated. Another detachment of infantrymen began a flanking movement and they pushed the veterans south to Maryland and Maine avenues.

Bomb after bomb was thrown as the soldiers moved quickly through the main building of the camp at 344 Pennsylvania avenue. The fumes routed the veterans from the upper floors of the building.

Thousands of spectators fled from the tear gas. Women and children in the crowd were affected. Storekeepers were ordered to lock their doors.

There was one casualty from the tear gas and the heat. An ambulance quickly took the victim away. As the troops moved toward the southeast corner of the area, the tanks moved behind the infantrymen.

Scenes reminiscent of the days of the World War were enacted as the troops rushed through the billets. As the fires broke out, the fire department was called to prevent spread of the flames.

In a futile gesture to halt the advance of the soldiers, some of the retreating bonus veterans, above whose heads waved an American flag, picked up a number of the gas shells before they could explode and threw them back into the ranks; but the soldiers pressed on.

Ordered to Get Out.

Cavalrymen moved through the area mopping up the work of the infantry. A cavalryman with a saber drawn espied a veteran in one of the shanties. "Get out of here," he said, pointing his sword.

The man held aloft his shoes and said he was putting them on. "It makes no difference," said the officer. Women and children in the huts were also evacuated. Some of them left with pots and pans and a few household belongings clutched in their arms.

The firemen, called into action by the blaze, drove into the midst of the flames. Screeching sirens added to the din. Boos and jeers of the veterans echoed throughout the sector, sprinkled with faint cheers and jeers of spectators.

Cavalry Horses Unruly.

Cavalry horses, frightened at the shouting and confusion, the gas and the flames, became unruly. One of them broke through a door to a drug store, carrying its rider over the sidewalk and into the store.

The cavalry came into view down historic Pennsylvania avenue shortly before 5 o'clock with pennants and flags flying above the horses' heads. The horses were halted at Sixth and Pennsylvania avenue. Then they Third street and in their rear came five whippet tanks, clattering and sputtering down the Avenue. Another moved into the affected area as Gen. Glassford ordered all spectators moved back from the scene of action.

The horses were spread clear across the Avenue, placing a halt on all vehicular movements. As they marched past the billets between Third and Fourth streets northwest, they were cheered and slightly booed by the veterans.

The head of the column stopped at cavalry unit followed them and then came a machine gun company. All of these were from Fort Myer.

Then came several companies of infantry from Fort Washington, equipped with trench helmets, rifles and fixed bayonets. Over their shoulders were strung sacks of tear gas bombs.

The mounted men carried carbines, sabers, pistols and tear gas bombs.

Scene on Avenue as Troops Arrive to Move Veterans

Post Staff Photo

Bird's-eye view of troops from Fort Myer being moved into the area of rioting at Pennsylvania avenue and Third street northwest. Rioting broke out there yesterday and one veteran was killed, a policeman was seriously injured and several others of the bonus marchers who defied the Government eviction order and policemen were less seriously hurt. Small tanks are shown between the troops of cavalry.

Day's Events in Bonus Battle Front Riots

Troops Engaged From Morning to Midnight in Forcing Evacuation After Police Fail to Evict Marchers.

(Associated Press.)

The chronology of yesterday's events concerning the Bonus Expeditionary Force:

10 a. m.—Treasury Department employes arrive to tear down a building on lower Pennsylvania avenue in which some of the veterans have been living.

10:05—Walter W. Waters, commander of the veterans' main group, urges his men to evacuate the building peacefully, but most of them decline.

11:09—Eviction of the veterans from the building begins by Treasury employes, assisted by a heavy police guard.

11:50—Last veteran is removed from building, a few being taken out forcibly and placed under arrest.

11:53—Attorney General Mitchell issues an order for evacuation of all veterans from Government property in the District of Columbia.

12:09—Veterans and police engage in brief street fight.

12:17—Police receive reports that many veterans from other encampments in the city are en route to lower Pennsylvania avenue. Every officer available for that purpose ordered to the scene. The veterans quickly rallied to arrive.

12:28—Some of the veterans' army hurl bricks at police and are subdued with the officers' night sticks.

1:25—One veteran killed and another wounded by police.

3:01—Cavalry troops from Fort Myer sent to Washington at direction of President Hoover to maintain order and to evacuate the veterans.

4:21—Veteran killed identified by police as William Hashka, of Chicago.

4:22—President Hoover announces he ordered out troops to put an end to "rioting and defiance of civil authority."

4:45—Troops and tanks arrive at troubled area near Capitol and take command.

4:47—White House secretary says Secret Service had learned those who led the fighting with the police were "entirely of the Communist element."

5:20—Troops move to clear area, later resorting to tear gas.

5:41—Troops succeed in evacuating veterans at Third and Pennsylvania avenue, and leave that area ablaze, to begin a second attack on a camp at Third and Fourth streets and Maryland and Maine avenues southwest.

6:30—Second camp cleared by Cavalry and Infantry after veterans toss back gas bombs at soldiers. Several injured by horses and with stones.

6:40—Hospitals begin receiving numbers of persons with minor injuries.

7:15—The camp of John Pace's radical group is set afire and evacuated. Most of the veterans here leave before troops arrive.

8:15—Two hundred veterans march into Virginia to stay in open fields. Virginia authorities say they are pledged military aid in event of trouble.

9:22—Troops move on Anacostia, last and main camp of the bonus army. Meanwhile many women and children evacuate in trucks, cars and on foot.

10:14—Troops attack Anacostia camp with tear gas and burn several huts near entrance.

10:35—Federal forces abandon attempt to evacuate Anacostia camp completely until morning and bivouac for the night.

10:40—Veterans set fire to many of their shacks.

Preparations had evidently been made for a long "occupation" of the area. Mess arrangements were being made for the men. Over the horses were slung raincoats.

The soldiers had with them their own medical units and ambulances, although these forces were amplified by all ambulances from every hospital in the city. These ambulances were drawn up on the north side of Pennsylvania avenue, across from the heavy lines of perspiring veterans.

"Wise Cracks" Are Shouted.

The khaki-clad men were grim-faced and quiet. Bonus marchers shot "wise cracks" at them. Maj. George Patton, astride a horse, was jeered and cheered as he trotted down the avenue. He surveyed the situation and then returned to Gen. MacArthur.

Mounted orderlies trotted up and down, carrying messages between the various unit commanders. One veteran shouted, "The first move they make, boys, get down on your bellies!"

Some veterans broke out with "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here." There was a short conference between Gen. Glassford and Army officials. Then the detachments of soldiers took their positions around the block.

Before the soldiers arrived, Gen. Glassford had warned, "Those who don't want to fight, move across the street."

In announcing the impending arrival of the troops, Gen. Glassford said:

"When the troops take over I will release police of the Fourth and First Precincts to return to their duties and protect property of the people of the District. Later I will release the Second and Third Precincts police.

"The others will stay here to keep out the people of the District so that they may not become involved in any fracas that may result."

When Gen. Glassford made his announcement the veterans were in a surly mood as a result of the killing of one of their number by a policeman.

Veterans Kept on Move.

As the retreating men moved stubbornly throughout the Southwest section, the soldiers struck another concentration camp, bounded by B, D, Twelfth and Thirteenth streets, in which the Communist group is housed in an abandoned apartment house.

Army trucks rolled up with new supplies of gas bombs. They were issued to the troops, the soldiers filling their pouches with them.

Throughout the entire movement in the Southwest section the veterans were kept on the move, prodded by the rifles of soldiers.

When he ordered out the troops President Hoover said that many of the veterans who remained after Congress adjourned were "not veterans, many are Communists and persons with criminal records."

The War Department officials, in ordering the troops to turn over all prisoners to the civil authorities, avoided a formal declaration of martial law in the Capital.

The President's order came after a brisk but furious exchange of shots near the billet at 344 Pennsylvania avenue when a group of veterans threw Patrolman George W. Shinault to the ground and were beating him.

The men were trying to wrest one of his guns from him. To protect himself, he came up from the ground shooting. Patrolman Miles Znamenecek, on the second floor of the building, rushed down the stairs, firing into the officer's assailants.

William Hashka, 37, of Chicago, was fatally wounded and died on the way to the hospital. Eric Carlson, another veteran of Oakland, Calif., is in a serious condition from a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Blamed on Communists.

White House officials said the Secret Service information was that the veterans who led the attack on police in the morning, which resulted in serious injuries to Patrolman Scott, were "entirely the Communist group."

President Hoover had been in conference at the White House with Secretary of War Hurley and Attorney General Mitchell. He kept informed of the developments in the evacuation procedure.

Afterward, Attorney General Mitchell said the condition in Washington was not martial law. He explained that under the law the Government could call out troops to aid District authorities in aiding law enforcement without declaring the military in control.

A few minutes after the exodus from the Pennsylvania avenue billets began a group of the veterans moved toward the Peace Monument. One man, carrying a blanket over his shoulder, started to sing "Pack Up Your Troubles." He was silenced by angry shouts of his companions.

Near the Peace Monument a woman sat on a packing box filled with clothing. She started to harangue the troopers, police, and then the veterans.

Some of the veterans were challenging the soldiers to get down from their horses and fight. Behind a towering Negro, carrying an American flag, a group of the bonus veterans surged across the street between two of the cavalrymen who were holding the line.

The Negro, dressed in riding boots and trousers, held the flag aloft and shouted he would not move. He was the point of a triangle about which the 100 or more veterans gathered.

Break Through Lines.

After the cavalrymen had tried unsuccessfully to push the Negro back, they put their horses squarely into the crowd, five of them breaking through the lines and scattering the men.

At another point several veterans tried to drag a cavalry captain from his mount, but other soldiers dashed up and pushed back the rioters.

The fatal shooting of Hashka came a short time before the troops were drawn up at the Ellipse ready to proceed to the billets. The shooting occurred on the west side of the partially demolished building at 344 Pennsylvania avenue.

"They're puttin' 'em out," one of the veterans shouted. A group of policemen was near the stairway. On the second floor Patrolman Znamenacek was trying to halt the march of the veterans into the building.

On the ground floor Shinault tried to stop the flow of veterans to the upper floors.

A veteran pushed against Shinault and he pushed the veteran back. A group of three other veterans advanced against the officer and clutched him, trying to push him off the stairs. He struck at them and the four jumped on him and began pelting him with clubs.

Shinault reported to Gen. Glassford that he shot to defend himself. While he was on the ground, Patrolman Znamenacek came down the stairs. He drew his gun and fired two shots into the veterans.

Meanwhile, Shinault reported, he shot from the ground. Wild disorder marked this clash, the veterans running to shelter and some of them toward the scene of the clash.

Glassford Is Witness.

Gen. Glassford witnessed the shooting from the second floor of the building. "I saw the officer surrounded by these men, who were beating him. Then I saw the officer draw his gun and fire at a range of 4 feet.

"I shouted 'For God's sake put away the guns.' The officer turned, wild-eyed, and pointed the gun at me. Then the other officers went down the stairs. Both Carlson and Hashka fell in this clash.

"I saw a roughly dressed civilian with a .45 automatic in his hand and I told him to put it away. He did. I don't know whether he was a bonus veteran."

Glassford tried to pacify the men with a short speech from the building, but the men remained glum and uncommunicative. A few exhorted the veterans to attack police.

"We have a policeman dying," Glassford said to the men.

Hashka Shot in Heart.

A bullet in the heart took Hashka's life, while Carlson is in a serious condition in Casualty Hospital from a bullet wound in the abdomen. The policemen who did the shooting were sent to the hospital for treatment of injuries received in the scuffle. They were later sent to their homes.

Gen. Glassford said the shooting was "justified."

Patrolman Scott was seriously injured when the veterans began throwing brickbats as Treasury Department officials, aided by police, tried to get the men to leave the buildings peaceably. Other policemen and a few veterans were injured in the wild melee that followed.

Gen. Glassford was struck on the chest by a rock. His badge was torn from his shirt, but was later retrieved.

Child Injured by Autos In Avoiding Gas Bomb

Wanda C. Kearns, 10 years old, of 1736 Eighteenth street northwest, was painfully injured last night when she was caught between two automobiles at Eleventh and N streets southeast.

The child had run into the street to dodge a tear gas bomb tossed by police into a crowd. She was treated at Casualty Hospital for cuts and bruises.

COERCION, RIOTS, BLOODSHED.

The episode in which several thousand veterans attempted to force the Government to pay them a bonus came to a tragic crisis yesterday. Men who came here under the pretense of petitioning Congress for aid remained to foment riots, to defy law and order and to cause bloodshed. Now they must be driven out.

With remarkable patience officials of the District and the Government endeavored to save the bonus army from starvation and disease, and to maintain order in spite of threats and encroachment upon Government property. All peaceful efforts to rid Washington of the bonusites failed, and it became necessary to reestablish law and order by military force. The outcome was inevitable. It throws a stigma of disgrace upon this small faction which undertook to coerce the United States.

Whatever right the bonus marchers may have had to considerate treatment has been forfeited. By squatting upon Government property and defying authorities to remove them they brought the powerful hand of Uncle Sam down upon themselves. They have only themselves to blame. Public sympathy does not extend to individuals who attempt to obtain gratuities by force and indulge in riots when they are thwarted. All the blood that is shed in this melee is on the hands of the fanatics who tried to use force to obtain their demands when arguments and petitions failed.

President Hoover was fully justified in calling out the troops to put down this uprising against the United States. No court proceedings are necessary to oust trespassers on Government property. When it became evident that the police force was not adequate to carry out the evacuation orders, no course was open to the President, except the use of Federal troops. Nothing can be gained by temporizing with a mob. It is unfortunate that this decisive action was not taken sooner, before the veterans had any occasion to believe that they could trifle with the Government.

From the very beginning of their trek to Washington the veterans were warned that they were playing into the hands of radicals and communists. Strenuous efforts were made by the genuine veterans to keep subversive influences out of their camps. But their efforts failed. At the crucial moment the regular leaders of the movement completely lost control over the bonus army and the rioters took charge. As a result the bonus cause has been dealt what may prove to be a fatal blow and the red agitators have been successful.

Department of Justice agents have found that many of the so-called marchers remaining here after the adjournment of Congress are not veterans, but red agitators and criminals. These elements have gained control over the idle men who remained here with the objective of living on public charity until 1945. Their purpose is to create trouble for the Government rather than to help genuine veterans. The Government must take vigorous measures to exterminate them from the National Capital.

No government can tolerate defiance and disorder on the part of its citizens. Individuals who violate the law and resist enforcement officers put themselves in the class of outlaws and must be treated as such. Government could not exist if organized groups were allowed to assemble in Washington and thwart the orderly procedure of civic functions. Since the bonus army has manifested its disrespect for civil authority, there is no other course than to drive the lawless elements from the city, and to arrest and imprison all trespassers and law violators who return.

The fanatics in Congress who incited this uprising by their crazy schemes to pay the bonus from an empty Treasury must be proud of their work. They have brought disgrace upon thousands of veterans and humiliation to the Government. Veterans who have been so cruelly duped by politicians pretending to be their friends may find their revenge through the ballot box. Yet this tragic incident will stand out in American history as a monument to the incredible blunders of bonus-seeking politicians.

DEMOCRATS GET IN LINE.

Gov. Roosevelt's harmony fest with Gov. Ely, of Massachusetts, seems to have been successful. All of the Democratic leaders who fought Gov. Roosevelt prior to the convention have now lined up to support him, or at least have withdrawn their opposition. Al Smith and his followers can not be expected to wax enthusiastic over the candidacy of the New York governor, but some of them have political fortunes of their own to look after. It is good politics to continue playing the game.

Gov. Ely will find it less difficult to throw his support behind the Democratic national ticket than did Mayor Frank Hague, of Jersey City, because he was more discreet in his opposition at Chicago. Although he left no superlative unexploited in his nominating speech for Al Smith, Gov. Ely did not publicly accuse the leading candidate of bad faith, nor predict his certain defeat in a contest with President Hoover. After Gov. Roosevelt has delivered his address on Saturday, in which he is expected to make a gesture of good will to the followers of the "Happy Warrior," the Massachusetts executive will probably be able to climb aboard the band wagon with full grace.

The efforts of Gov. Roosevelt to placate the groups disgruntled because of his nomination have been remarkably successful. If some of the old wounds are not yet healed, they are at least removed from the public view. The Democratic party has an unusual appearance of unity on the eve of its great struggle for control of the Government, yet the vote of the Chicago convention for outright repeal of the eighteenth amendment is still a sore spot in some localities, and many eastern leaders are worried over the tactics of the vice presidential candidate. It remains to be seen whether a serious breach will develop between Speaker Garner and the more conservative wing of the party.

The apparent conversion of Gov. Ely is important because it signifies the strong bid which the Roosevelt forces are making for support in the conservative eastern States. Indications are that the campaign will be centered in New York and nearby States with large electoral votes.

The success of Gov. Roosevelt in these States will depend, in large measure, upon the character of the program which he outlines. The governor's two addresses scheduled for Saturday are awaited with a great deal of interest. During the last fortnight he has conferred with the most able leaders of his party with a view to outlining an economic program. Thus far very little is known of the Democratic candidate's plans for economic rehabilitation, and the spotlight has been focussed on Speaker Garner's program as developed in the House of Representatives. Concrete suggestions and practical means of putting them into effect are now expected from the man who holds first place on the ticket. Gov. Roosevelt is doubtless aware of the fact that the substance of these forthcoming addresses may be the turning point of his career toward the Presidency or toward defeat.

BRAZIL'S REVOLUTION.

The revolt of the state of Sao Paulo against the federal government of Brazil is now in its third week, but no very definite results have transpired. From the beginning reports of peace overtures and of mediation emissaries traveling back and forth between Rio de Janiero and Sao Paulo have been as numerous as the accounts of troop movements. Rebel airplanes have dropped printed propaganda upon the capital and President Vargas has dispatched his fliers several times to the south to scatter promises of amnesty in case of prompt surrender and to urge the futility of resistance to federal troops.

There has been a large concentration of troops about the city of Sao Paulo, resulting in a number of unimportant skirmishes, but so far no general attack by either side. Conflicting reports, as usual when military censorship is in force, continue to come from government and rebel headquarters. The federals announce they have the rebel stronghold surrounded so that defeat is certain. From the southern city come reports that federal troops are deserting to join the revolutionists. Meanwhile the agents seeking a compromise agreement continue negotiations.

Sao Paulo, center not only of the important coffee growing industry of Brazil, but also the principal manufacturing city, has frequently been in conflict, political or military, with the central government. Paying nearly three-fourths of the taxes of the vast republic, Sao Paulo feels its importance and is not backward in making demands known. The state has frequently threatened to secede from the federation, but the objective of the present uprising is merely to force a return to constitutional government.

Provisional President Vargas has held office for some eighteen months, and while promising to hold general elections, has so far not done so. It is explained that the great size of Brazil, and poor communications with many parts of the interior, make the preparation of voting lists and other electoral arrangements a matter requiring many months. Sao Paulo thinks arrangements should have been made before now and demands either immediate elections or a dominant voice in the government.

Business conditions in Brazil were bad before revolutionary activities resulted in various decrees postponing all payments and otherwise hampering operations. For months there has been an embargo upon the transfer from Brazil of all funds except for payment of imports and a few special personal uses. The result is that earnings from American-owned enterprises and other funds of Americans, estimated at $60,000,000, have piled up in the banks of the country, but can not be exported. Revolutionary complications are adding greatly to the losses of both Brazilians and all foreign interests.

JAPAN AND THE LEAGUE.

Several times since the Japanese began the Manchurian campaign Tokyo has been reported on the verge of withdrawing from the League of Nations. The possibility of such action may again be precipitated by the report of the league committee headed by Lord Lytton. The exhaustive studies of the commission in China, Manchuria and Japan have been completed and the findings are being formulated. Well-informed opinion in China and Geneva is convinced that the verdict will not be acceptable to Japan in view of Tokyo's many pronouncements with regard to her actions on the mainland and future policy there.

Indications are that the Lytton report will conform to the widespread convictions that the Manchurian disorders offered as an excuse for Japan's invasion did not warrant the extreme measures taken; that Japan plainly violated at least the nine power treaty and that the government established in Manchuria is a puppet regime dominated by Japan. If such a report is submitted in September, Japan will face the alternative of answering it or withdrawing from the league.

A deterring influence to this action is the possibility that as a consequence of such a step Japan might forfeit her mandate over the Pacific islands lying between the Philippines and Hawaii, and, furthermore, she might see China take her place as a member of the league council. Tokyo is said to be studying the somewhat anomalous position of Argentina, which withdrew from both the assembly and the council of the league, but continues to pay dues.

The first test will come when the Lytton report is presented to the league council in Geneva. Japan may be expected to oppose its reference to the assembly under the rule requiring a unanimous vote, but it is doubtful whether her delegates will be able to prevent publication of the findings, or the ultimate rendering of a decision on the report by the assembly. Japan has so consistently rejected all offers of mediation or interference of any kind in her program in China that it seems probable she will retire in some manner from the league before a decision is rendered.

ELIMINATING ELECTORS

From the Boston Transcript.

Dissatisfaction with the nomination of John N. Garner, of Texas, for Vice President has prompted some pious Democrats to inquire of us if they can, legally and effectively, vote for Roosevelt for President and Curtis for second place. Unfortunately, this heresy is not permissible; and, incidentally, the query uncovers what will be for many the surprising information that while it will still remain practically possible elsewhere for a State to divide its electoral vote, as did California in 1912, that feat will be impossible in Massachusetts this year, because of a new law. But even outside this State the vote can not be split as between the head and the tail of a presidential ticket; the division in California gave Theodore Roosevelt, Progressive, eleven electoral votes, and Woodrow Wilson, Democrat, two.

As is generally known, the American people do not actually vote for and elect their President and Vice President, although this year, for the first time, they will have the appearance of doing so in Massachusetts. This is done for them by the Electoral College, which is composed of a group of persons equal in number to the combined senators and representatives in Congress; and this college never really meets. Theoretically and according to the Constitution, the electors may vote for any one they please, but practically, and since the early days of the Republic, the electors have been pledged to vote for certain nominees, and they never have dared or cared to do otherwise—although in this election some of them may find themselves under a strain in performing their functions, as the question asked of us suggests.

The custom has been for the "legal" parties to nominate their electors through State conventions, and their names are placed upon the ballot upon certification by the proper officials, usually State committees; parties without legal standing get the names of their electors on the ballots on petition. In this State 1,000 signatures to the petition are necessary. The names of the electors are printed on the ballot; and while it is possible and legal for voters to write in other names, as was done in California, the division does not extend so far as to split the presidential from the vice presidential candidate, nor can it, according to the authorities. The California electors in 1912 voted for Roosevelt and Johnson and for Wilson and Marshall, the regular nominees.

The Massachusetts ballot this year will be a novelty. The Constitution prescribes that the electors of a State may be "appointed" in such manner as the Legislature may direct. Acting under this authority, the General Court at its last session enacted a law providing that the ballot shall carry only the names of the nominees of the various parties for President and Vice President, and for them, apparently, the citizen will vote. The electors, however, already will have been chosen and after the election, upon proper certification, the governor will proclaim the electors on the winning ticket. What glory there will be in serving as an elector in Massachusetts hereafter is outside the scope of this editorial; the change was made chiefly for the purpose of facilitating the counting of the votes, although it presents the added advantage of saving space on the ballot and printing expense to the Commonwealth.

AN ELECTRIC POINTER.

College professors, according to the Literary Digest, no longer need to take their old-time fish pole to class when they deliver a lecture. Now they can "pack" an electric gun, that shoots little arrows of light onto a motion picture or lantern slide screen. In fact, the lecturer can sit in the second or third row and by simply pressing a switch project a white arrow upon any part of the screen he desires without moving from his seat or getting himself between the audience and the screen.

Adding Fresh Fuel Can't Mend Matters If the Fire Has Burned Out

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE first and wisest of America's natural philosophers cultivated a habit that would overcome the gnawing discontent of moderns. He learned to "diet his senses." He doubled the pleasure of indulgence by prolonging the period of self-denial.

The gastric fluid needed in medicine is not obtained from well-fed swine. The victims are starved until the time of sacrifice and then dispatched when the sight of food has caused their digestive juices to flow abundantly in eager anticipation.

The capacity for pleasant anticipation is natural to all creatures, and none habitually destroys it except man.

The zest of life depends almost wholly on the ability to desire, yet man, the only creature endowed with reason, is the only one to indulge himself until desire is dead.

Our chief characteristic as a people is self-indulgence. From the cradle to the grave we deny ourselves nothing that lies within our reach. And because prosperity has enabled us to reach much, we have called ourselves the most fortunate of people.

Perhaps we were the most fortunate, but lack of wisdom made our good fortune a curse.

Have you ever wondered why Nature requires each generation to learn by experience?

Have you wondered why the young do not inherit the knowledge and wisdom so painfully acquired by their fathers?

Nature's ways are wise. It is the pleasure of anticipation that inspires the development of youth. Experiment and discovery and the thrill of new experience make life a joyous adventure. A child born with all knowledge would be doomed to insufferable boredom. In all of a dull and profitless world there would be nothing new to entice it or whet its appetites.

Many modern youngsters find life a bore, but the fault isn't Nature's. They are cheated of their birthright by over-indulgent parents. They are victims of the foolish American creed that too much of everything makes happiness.

The discontented are the fed-up, the surfeited. They are victims of satiety. They have gorged on life until it sickens them. Self-indulgence has destroyed appetite and nothing remains to afford a kick.

Your most precious possession is desire. It is your inspiration, your source of pleasure, the salt that savors existence. Exhaust your store of it and all that remains of life is ashes.

PRO AND CON

Press Comment Upon Acts and Actors in the Great American Show, "Politics."

The American Dole.

New York Herald Tribune.

On Tuesday the National Economy League launched a nation-wide attack upon the whole system of political pensions and upon the rank jungles of veterans' laws which the system has already produced.

The movement was begun by former service men. The President and the Democratic candidate for the presidency have both indorsed its objects. Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Smith, the most eminent representatives in private life of the two parties, stand at the head of its advisory council. It is the first public movement of such a character to which Mr. Coolidge has lent his name since he laid down the Presidency.

The object of this movement is one of vital importance to the interests of the United States. The pension machine must not only be halted now—that has ceased to be enough—the laws which it has already ground out must be revised, and they can be revised only through a nation-wide understading of what has happened and of what must be done about it.

Safety First.

Kansas City Star.

When note is taken of the fact that of nearly 10,000 bills, resolutions and measures of whatsoever sort introduced in Congress only about 500 were acted upon favorably, the country may take heart and feel that it has much to be thankful for, after all. Not the least part of the occasion for its gratitude arises from the very nature of the country's government itself, from the safeguards in the setup of Congress and in the executive check over foolish or unwise legislation.

That Railroad Poll.

New York Times.

The editor of a West Virginia paper, the Logan Democrat, has notified Gov. Roosevelt that he got four times as many votes as President Hoover received on a special train from Huntington, W. Va., to Niagara Falls. The news was naturally pleasing to Albany.

However, the United Press, which brings the information, did not disclose the original party affiliations of the travelers. If they were the State Republican Club of West Virinia, the news is truly sensational. But if it was an outing of the Democratic State committee, the number of votes cast for the President will encourage the Republicans. As Niagara Falls was the destination, it may be that the voyagers were honeymoon couples. If Mr. Roosevelt is so high in favor with newlyweds he is as good as elected.

The vote is given as 912 to 227. These figures put the whole poll in doubt. For who believes that any railroad has hauled 1,100 persons from anywhere to anywhere on any one trip since 1928?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Court Proceedings Are Not Necessary to Oust Veterans From Government Property, Says Mr. Fox. Opinion of Former Attorney General Cited.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The day's developments disclose the "bonus marchers" as active obstructionists to the operation of their Government. They occupy unlawfully the reservations of the United States. They prevent contractors from fulfilling their obligations to the United States in carrying on the construction of public buildings, to the increase of unemployment. They are making the Government liable in damages to the contractors, and such damages must be paid by the taxpayer. They defy the requests and orders to vacate Government land. It is hard to discover in their conduct any of the "patriotism" which they seek to exploit.

No court proceedings are needed, nor is it necessary to declare martial law in the District of Columbia, to remove these trespassers.

It is refreshing, in contrast to such futility, to look back 75 years and see how the Government dealt with a similar question of getting rid of trespassers. It can be accomplished within an hour. All that is needed is to tell the marchers to get off and stay off—and then act in accordance with the advice of Attorney General Black in 1857, found in volume IX of the opinions of the Attorney General at page 106.

The opinion is so pertinent to the present situation and such good reading that I inclose a full copy thereof.

DUANE E. FOX.

Opinion Cited.

The opinion by Attorney General J. S. Black follows:

"You have sent me the report of Lieut. Blunt, from which it appears that a railway company, incorporated in Canada, but with an extension of its charter granted by New York, has commenced certain work in the Niagara River, with the intention of making a railway track over the land of the United States appurtenant to Fort Porter.

"The report suggests a judicial remedy, 'by injunction or otherwise.' I am requested to give my advice on the case.

"It was the practice of the Federal Government in early times to vindicate her right to the possession of the public property in a very short way. She turned out and kept out all lawless intruders, without stopping to ask leave of the courts. I do not know at what precise period she became humble enough to forego the privilege of self-defense, or when she began to prefer the shelter of an injunction to the protection of her own right hand.

"In theory, she still denies her liability to be sued, but in practice that theory comes to very little, if any man or corporation who is impudent enough to invade her property can compel her to abandon it and get the decree of a court before she can retake it. If that be the rule, her immunity from lawsuits amounts to this: That she will not allow herself to be sued by an honest person who has a just claim and seeks to enforce it in a legal way, but she will let any trespasser deprive her of her rights and drive her into court to regain them.

"Here, you tell me, is a railroad corporation which has crossed over from Canada, and threatens to take possession of land of the United States. If they can take part of that property, they can take it all, or any other military station, dismantle the fort, turn out the garrison and tear down the house where the commander has his quarters. The threat is that they will thrust themselves on the public property by a naked, downright and palpable wrong, with nothing to avouch the deed but their own mere will. It is not my opinion that an injunction is needed to prevent such an outrage. A few words of instruction to the officers of the Army at Fort Porter, or near it, will be amply sufficient."

Depression Will End, Says Correspondent, When Materialism Is Overcome.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When will the depression end? When 122,000,000 people in these United States, through bitter experience, have learned their lessons and profited thereby.

When the rich learn charity and unselfishness; when the poor learn the futility of hating or envying the rich; when the powerful learn humility; when the weak learn strength; when the materialist learns to become spiritual-minded; when the theorist learns to become practical; when we all learn honesty and integrity—then will the depression end.

Our materialism caused the depression, and by the same token we are rebuked. Are we going to profit from expesience?

ASSISTANCE.

'Tis not a little thing to be
On hand in just the nick of time
To hear a stranger's whispered plea
And give a hungry man a dime.

A cup of coffee and a roll
Seem scarcely worth a word of praise,
And milk and crackers in a bowl
A trivial dish of happier days.

But to the hungry on the street
Who searches for a friendly eye,
How warm that coffee and how sweet
That roll the proffered dime may buy!

'Tis not a little thing to be
The one among the crowds of me
To hear a hungry brother's plea,
Crackers and milk mean something then.

BRITAIN RECOUNTS TRADE OBLIGATIONS

Baldwin Reminds Dominions of Efforts in Their Behalf by England.

Ottawa, July 28 (A.P.).—Great Britain tactfully reminded her daughter nations at the imperial economic conference today that she had done her utmost to develop their trade, and asked them what they were going to do in return now that times are hard.

The British position was set forth in a formal statement issued by Stanley Baldwin, head of the delegation from the United Kingdom. The heart of that statement was this paragraph:

"The representatives of the United Kingdom have put frankly and fully to the dominions the articles on which they desire to secure further advantages in dominion markets, and they will welcome from the dominions an equally full statement of the corresponding advantages they seek in the markets of Great Britain."

Mr. Baldwin emphasized that at present there are 2,750,000 unemployed persons in Britain. It is vital to the nation's physical existence, he said, to find adequate markets for the products of her highly industrialized system. Therefore anything tending to check the foreign exports of Britain must lessen her own purchasing power and thus impair the very markets on which the dominions largely depend for the sale of their own products.

On that basis the British delegation argued that preferential rates of duties imposed by the dominions should be graduated to give United Kingdom products a reasonable chance of competing on even terms and that protective tariffs against United Kingdom products should be only high enough to give a fair opportunity to reasonably efficient dominion industries.

The effect of the British statement was to define the lines of future negotiations between the mother country and the dominions. It came as American interests, not participating in the conference but here only as observers, began to draft an unofficial statement of their view.

The Americans planned to set forth the disadvantages that might result to trade between the United States and Canada if certain proposals before the conference were agreed to.

Committee Is Selected By Cosmopolitan Club

William L. King, president of the Cosmopolitan Club, announced yesterday that Ross Wilkes would head the committee of ten in charge of the next night meeting which will be held on August 18. This carries out the plan of the Cosmopolitan Club to hold one night meeting each month during hot weather.

Judge Michael M. Doyle, international president of Cosmopolitan Clubs, announced that the annual conference of the international organization will be held at Rapid City, in the Black Hills, August 23, 24 and 25. Judge Doyle and Gordon Bonnette will represent the Washington club.

Two Bears, Herds of Elk And Deer Peril Boatmen

Hoquiam, Wash., July 28 (A.P.).—This story was told today by Frank and August Northup, of Clearwater, Wash.:

They started on a canoe trip up the Clearwater and upper Queets Rivers. Half a mile from home their canoe was almost swamped by a big black bear and her cub swimming the Clearwater. A mile farther on they encountered a herd of elk swimming the river, barely escaping trouble there only to run into another elk herd crossing the stream. Rounding a bend, they had to maneuver their canoe quickly to avoid hitting two deer.

Dominick Fight, Political "Trick"

Democrat Raps Innuendo Because of Marriage to G. P. O. Woman.

Greenwood, S. C., July 28 (A.P.).—The fact that Fred H. Dominick, of Newberry, Democratic congressman for sixteen years, married the daughter of a Republican congressman, has been injected into Dominick's fight for renomination from the Third District. Three years ago Dominick married Miss Alva Seger, daughter of Representative George Seger (Republican), New Jersey.

Denouncing it as a "contemptible, cowardly and dastardly political trick," Dominick made public the following telegram sent him from Hendersonville, N. C.:

"In appreciation of the splendid service you and your father-in-law, the Hon. George M. Seger, have rendered in Congress, your Republican friends in North Carolina join in extending you much success in your campaign for reelection. You may rest assured that there will be no opposition put up against you in the general election.

"(Signed)

"Your Republican Friends."

Dominick said he would attempt to find who sent the telegram. His wife, he said, has voted the Democratic ticket since their marriage.

Radio-Controlled Tests Begin on Target Ship

San Pedro, Calif., July 28 (A.P.).—The first of a series of tests designed to perfect the operative control of the U. S. S. Utah before she is placed before a firing squad of the United States Fleet next fall began off the coast here today.

The Utah, decommissioned, is equipped with radio apparatus by which a distant control ship can maneuver, stop and start her without a crew aboard the Utah. The test today was a run up the coast from San Pedro. Control apparatus was aboard the mine sweeper Robin.

SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Henry M. Robinson Guest of President Hoover.

THE PRESIDENT HAS WITH him at the White House, Mr. Henry M. Robinson.

Mrs. Hoover has with her at the Presidential Camp on the Rapidan a number of the wives of the members of the "Little Cabinet," who motored to the camp yesterday to spend the night. Mrs. Walter H. Newton and Mrs. Theodore G. Joslin, wives of the presidential secretaries, and their children are also spending some time with Mrs. Hoover.

Mrs. Edgar Rickard, who has been Mrs. Hoover's guest for some time, returned to New York yesterday.

The Ambassador of Italy, Nobile Giacomo de Martino, entertained at luncheon on Wednesday in the embassy for the former Naval Attache of the Embassy, Capt. Alberto Lais, who is spending some time in this country. Signora Lais is visiting her parents in New York, where she has been for several weeks. Capt. Lais is on leave of absence in this country, and, with Signora Lais, will return shortly to Italy.

The other guests at the luncheon were Rear Admiral George H. Rock, Capt. Hayne Ellis, Capt. C. Stanford Hooper, Capt. William Baggaley, Lieut. Comdr. Hamilton Bryan, the Italian Consul General in New York, Commandor E. Grazzi; the Italian Consul General in Philadelphia, Commander Margotti; the Counselor of the Embassy, Count Alberto Marchetti di Murigilo; the Naval Attache, Commander Casardi, and the Assistant Naval Attache, Count di Gropello.

The Ambassador of Turkey, Mr. Ahmet Muhtar; the Minister of Albania, Mr. Faik Konitza; the Minister of Lithuania, Mr. B. K. Balutis; the Minister of Jugoslavia, Dr. Leonide Pitamic, and the Charge d'Affaires of Nicaragau, Senor Dr. Don Luis Manuel Debayle, are sponsoring the fifth annual Tricity Regatta, which will be held tomorrow and Sunday at Herald Harbor on the Severn.

This is the first time this event has attracted so much attention from nationally and internationally known drivers of racing crafts, and it is believed that this Severn River event will eventually take its place as a ranking regatta of the Eastern seaboard.

Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, is at the Shoreham while here.

Senator and Mrs. Watson To Motor to Wisconsin.

Senator and Mrs. James E. Watson will start today by motor for northern Wisconsin, where they will spend August. Early in September they will go to their home in Rushville, Ind., to remain until December.

Their daughter, Miss Katherine Watson, is in New York, where she is studying singing.

Senator John H. Cohen, who was appointed to fill the vacancy left by the death of Senator William J. Harris, of Georgia, left Washington yesterday after spending a short time here since the Democratic convention.

The newly appointed minister to Great Britain from China, Dr. Quo Tai Chi, and Mme. Chi with their family sailed yesterday on the Majestic for England.

The Air Attache of the British Embassy, group captain, the Hon. L. J. Fiennes, sailed yesterday from New York on the Majestic to spend a vacation at his home in England.

Representative and Mrs. Claude A. Fuller, with their two daughters, Ruth and Dorothy, have left for their home in Eureka Springs, Ark., for the summer. They have closed their apartment at Wardman Park Hotel, but will return in the fall and be established there throughout the winter season.

Senor Luis Careaga, Spanish Consulate in New Orleans, is at the Shoreham while in Washington.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, sailed yesterday from New York on the Deutschland for a two-months trip in Europe. He will join Mrs. Grant and their daughters in Paris, where they have arrived after a cruise in the Mediterranean.

Col. Grant will return to this country early in September.

Maj. and Mrs. Walsh Visiting in Capital.

Maj. and Mrs. Roland F. Walsh, of Philadelphia, are the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Johnson, in their apartment at Wardman Park Hotel, for a short time, on their way home from South Carolina, where they have been visiting. Maj. and Mrs. Walsh arrived in Washington yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Price Wright have leased the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Claude at Annapolis Roads, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Wright plan to go to Annapolis the first of next month.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Coulter came here by motor a day or two ago from their home in Austinburg, Ohio, and they are staying at Wardman Park Hotel.

Mr. Louis G. Caldwell has left Washington for New York and will sail to join Mrs. Caldwell in Europe, where she arrived several weeks ago. They will spend about two months there before returning to Washington in September for the winter season.

Mrs. George Benoit, of Snowden, Fredericksburg, Va., and her niece, Miss Mary Whitaker, of Washington, are sailing for Europe, for a motor trip through Central Europe.

Miss Whitaker will remain in Geneva, where she is attending school. Mrs. Benoit will return in the late autumn.

Maj. and Mrs. William F. Shuman entertained at the dinner dance on the Shoreham Terrace last evening in honor of Col. and Mrs. Frank L. K. Laslamme, Maj. and Mrs. Niel Harper, Maj. and Mrs. William H. Siefert and Maj. and Mrs. Marhl H. Welch. Their guests numbered 36.

Miss Mary E. Ferro entertained at the dinner dance on the Shoreham Terrace Wednesday evening in honor of Senor Don Eduardo M. Sosa, secretary to the president-elect, Mr. Hermedio Arias. Senor Sosa left Washington yesterday to join Dr. Arias in New York. Her other guests were Miss Fannie M. Stanish, Miss Rose Ann Ferro, Mr. Michael J. Durso and Mr. Harry Smith.

Col. Edward Clifford and his son, Mr. Robert Clifford, will sail today from New York on the Westerland for England, where they will join Mrs. Clifford and Miss Helen Clifford, who have been there some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Brewood entertained at the dinner dance on the Shoreham Terrace Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. James Dorsey. Their other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Chance Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Haley, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Allen MacCullen and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon I. Richard.

Filipino Organization Plans Summer Dance.

Under the auspices of the Visayan Circle, Inc., largest Filipino organization in the city, an annual midsummer dance will be given tonight at the clubhouse, 1817 K street northwest. Several prominent Filipinos in the city and from Annapolis and Baltimore have accepted the invitation to attend at this annual gala affair. Many American friends of the Filipinos have also acknowledged their willingness to participate in the evening's program. The famous Circle String Orchestra under the directorship of Nick Cardones will furnish the music for the evening.

The committee in charge of the arrangements is headed by Diosdado M. Yap, with Isaac M. Capayas, Leon Arboliras, Camilo Tado, Cayetano Nagac, Miss Molly Horn and Miss Blanche Ebert as members.

Mrs. Charles Bateson, who, with Mr. Bateson and their two boys, Philip and Charles, jr., makes her home at Wardman Park Hotel, is leaving today for Tennessee, where she will spend the summer with her mother. Mr. Bateson will remain in Washington for the present, but will probably join her there later.

Mr. Thomas F. Woodlock, former commissioner of the Interstate Commerce Commission, of New York, is stopping at Wardman Park Hotel. Mr. Woodlock made his home at Wardman with Mrs. Woodlock when they were residents of this city. Upon his return to New York they will sail for a vacation in Europe.

Col. and Mrs. Thomas W. Hammond, who have been stationed at Governors Island, New York, are spending a few days at the Shoreham on their way to their new station at Fort Benning, Ga.

The professor of international law at the Catholic University of America, Dr. Herbert Wright, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Cosmos Club in honor of Mr. George N. Schuster, managing editor of the Commonweal, who is lecturing at the summer session of the Catholic University. Those invited to meet the guest of honor were Dr. Stanley L. Hornbeck, chief of the Far East Division, Department of State; Dr. Edward C. Wynne, assistant historical adviser, Department of State; Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings Institution; Mr. Oscar T. Crosby, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Dr. Dumas Malone, editor of the Dictionary of American Biography; Mr. Byron Price, chief of the Washington office of the Associated Press; Mr. Frederic William Wile, political analyst of the Columbia Broadcasting System, and Mr. William Hard, writer and journalist.

The Woman's National Democratic Club entertained last evening at the last of its series of Thursday evening suppers served in the garden. The club will resume its activities about October 1.

WAR THREAT GROWS OVER CHACO DISPUTE

Bolivian Troops Mobilized as Paraguayans Urge Defense Steps.

Buenos Aires, July 28 (U.P.).—Feverish military preparations in the Gran Chaco jungle region and the appearance of Bolivian airplanes over the scene of recent military clashes tonight intensified the threat of war between Paraguay and Bolivia as a result of their long-standing frontier dispute.

While neutral nations prepared to bring pressure for peace at the most critical moment, the Bolivian government informed Washington it could not accept the plea to resume negotiations for a peaceful settlement.

Meanwhile, in Paraguay a warlike sentiment spread through the cities as it has been spreading in Bolivia for a week and the Ascuncion newspapers called upon the government to make intensive preparations to defend the nation.

Advices from the frontier said many Bolivian troops were moving into the Chaco region through the mobilization point of Villa Montes, with recruiting at Tarija and Potosi. Motor truck caravans loaded with war supplies pass through Villa Montes daily, and reliable advices said headquarters would be established there in event of war.

Communication lines were reported laid from Villa Montes to the fortresses in the frontier area, and short wave wireless is being installed to supplement telephone and telegraph lines.

Argentine frontier towns are effecting strict vigilance at the border and prepared to protect the rights of this government.

Conversations in diplomatic channels are continuing, with Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru involved in the efforts toward assuring peace. These efforts will be strongly pushed unofficially but a "joint plea" in strong language will be presented if necessary. Diplomats were far from optimistic.

It was understood Chile and Peru had reached an understanding for joint action for peace if the situation reaches a more serious stage.

Ford Still Maintains Dry Law Right Course

New York, July 28 (U.P.).—Henry Ford has not changed his opinion on prohibition, and is still convinced that "there is not 1 per cent of the drinking done in the United States that was done formerly."

Writing in the current issue of Collier's Weekly, the automobile manufacturer refuted the assertion that prohibition is responsible for crime and contempt of law. "Anyone who charges it to prohibition," said Mr. Ford, "will be nearer the truth if he charges it to liquor. And the cure is not more liquor, but less."

Couple Seeks to Adopt Baby.

A petition for the adoption of Jerry Page Eliot, 3 years old, who is described as being "without adequate means of earning a living," was filed yesterday in Prince Georges County Circuit Court by James M. Hammond and his wife, Emma. The child was sent to them last year by the board of public welfare of the District.

REICH HEARS STRONG CALL FOR KAISERISM

Nationalists Urge Return to Monarchy to Restore Germany's Power.

Berlin, July 28 (A.P.).—Adolf Hitler's threat that democracy of Germany must die within a few days was followed up today by a strong call for "Kaiserism" from Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, leader of the Nationalist party which, with Hitler's National Socialists, is dedicated to putting Germany back in her "place in the sun."

"Kaiserism is the country's safest guarantee for a clean, strong, righteous state," Dr. Hugenberg told an audience in Koenigsberg assembled to hear the Nationalist campaign arguments in preparation for the important Reichstag elections Sunday.

The fiery Hitler, who swept into Berlin by airplane last night, brought forth thunderous cheers from 100,000 persons gathered in the great Berlin Stadium by declaring:

"July 31 must remove the rule of democracy and Marxism and its vassals from Germany, and restore a regime of discipline, national confidence, honor and power."

Dr. Hugenberg, privy councilor under the old monarchy, declared emphatically that real German manhood never will be developed until universal military training, forbidden by the Treaty of Versailles, is again established.

Although the Nationalists and the Hitlerites are united in their demand that Germany be reestablished in her old power, they are far from political unity, as Dr. Hugenberg indicated by making a jibe at the Nazi brown shirts.

"Let's not imitate other countries," he said. "That applies also to outward things like uniforms and salutes. The simple field gray and the military salute of the old army are closer to our hearts."

Rumors that, as a result of Sunday's elections, the Weimar constitution establishing the German Republic may be thrown into the discard, and that consequently there will be no celebration of constitution day August 11, were set at rest by announcements from the Federal and Prussian governments that the usual exercises will be held. A feature of the day will be a grand assembly of the pillars of democracy in the Reichstag building. President von Hindenburg will attend.

Walther Oratory Test Won by California Girl

Los Angeles, July 28 (A.P.).—Thelma Kruschke, of Berkeley, Calif., who represented the northern California district in the International Walther League oratorical finals, was announced as winner of the contest today at the close of the organization's fortieth international convention. Miss Kruschke, victorious over fifteen competitors, won a scholarship in Valparaiso University, Ind. She spoke on "My Greatest Moment in Life."

The convention closed officially with the Rev. H. H. Feiertag, of Wheatridge, announcing an extensive building program at the sanitarium; a report by W. F. Welherman, of Chicago, on recreation committee activities, and an address by Edwin Meese, jr., of Oakland, Calif.

South Protests Freight Tariff.

Atlanta, July 28 (A.P.).—A protest against the Interstate Commerce Commission's recommendation to establish freight rates from South to Southeast higher than from the Northern territory was made today by the Southeastern Association of Railroad and Utility Commissions.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Color Is Keynote to Looking Cool.

ON a warm, muggy day, when every one is complaining about the cruelty of the weatherman, hurling quips about fireless cookers and frying eggs on the sidewalk, when beads of perspiration appear on every brow and noses shine and hair hangs dank, when all seems stifling discomfort—you'll agree that the proverbial but hard-to-find "cool-as-a-cucumber" individual is a welcome sight. As welcome (almost) as a dip in the surf or sleep in the sheltering shade of "the old apple tree."

It seems an almost impossible art to keep a cool appearance on such a day doesn't it? It is an art, but not an impossible one.

Color is the keynote to looking and feeling cool. Have you ever stopped to notice how much warmth the shades of red, henna, purple and orange, for instance, seem to exude.

Texture of material is another factor. Woolens of even the lightweight type are definitely winter materials. Heavy satins and crepes, too.

Crisp Cottons.

It is fortunate for femininity that cottons have made such a splendid come back. They are so crisp and cool, inexpensive and easily laundered that they should be included in every woman's wardrobe. In the delicate pastel shades, they are the very essence of summer loveliness. The cotton beach costumes with their floppy sun-shading hats are charming.

Fresh, cool clothes are a secret of daintiness. Both outer and under garments should be changed very frequently during the summer, at least daily, and in extreme heat twice daily, if possible. Comfortable clothes are important, not too tight to hamper circulation or free movement, but, on the other hand, not too loose or they will require constant adjustment. Simplicity is another factor in the refreshing picture. Frills and ruffles, bows and billows, scarves and such, constantly tugged at do not add to a spectator's comfort or coolness. The simple, easily-laundered ensemble is very often the most successful as a cool, clean crisp-looking summer vogue.

Exercise and Relaxation.

When you're weary of the hot world, exercise seems an extreme effort. But, try your setting up exercises each morning followed by a cold shower. That's a good way to get off to a good start. But everything in its time and place. A 10-minute to a half hour nap or relaxation in the afternoon if you can will make you feel more comfortable, particularly if you dream of anything but the heat; picture a cool breeze, trees swaying, the ocean beating on the beach. Another secret: After a cold plunge in the ocean, when your temperature has gone down several degrees, don't shoot it up again by running around or exercising. Rest for 15 minutes first.

As for a quick, refreshing facial, there's nothing better than patting with iced skin tonic or a cleansing lotion. Then a wee bit of fresh rouge and powder.

My little bulletin, "Laws for Looking Cool," contains more hints that will help you look so cool and refreshing that people will say "you look as refreshing as a cool breeze, it is always a joy to see you."

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

PROTECTING THE TEETH.

THE dentists appreciate the importance of a drinking water that is not too rich in fluorine, but many of them have yet to learn of another danger that confronts their patients. Floyd De Eds informs them, through their official dental journal, that one of their best bleaching agents contains ammonium fluoride. When they are asked to whiten teeth stained by tobacco or discolored by any other agent they are apt to use a powder containing this chemical. The action in whitening a tooth may be somewhat similar to the formation of the soft white spots in the teeth of persons who get too much fluorine. Since the teeth of adults are more resistant the use of an ammonium fluoride powder on them will not do material harm, but its use to bleach the teeth of children is distinctively risky.

De Eds warns dentists against the use of abrasives, powders and pastes which contain ammonium fluoride as an ingredient. They will do well to inquire as to whether any tooth paste or preparation of any kind, especially those that tend to whiten the teeth, contain any fluoride before they use it themselves or recommend that their patients use it. An infrequent use, as, for instance, for the purpose of bleaching, may be harmless, but not so if a powder containing fluorides is used daily.

Fluorine is one of those substances—of which there are several—which foods and drugs used by man must contain in a minute trace, but in which an excess is harmful. Copper is one of these. We appear to need an exceedingly small daily dose of it, yet let the quantity pass even a trace and harm results. Iodine is another. We need a little "awful bad," but slightly too much is even worse for us. We need a trace of iron, but an excess of it would be poisonous except for the fact that any excess eaten would pass through unabsorbed. We need a little zinc, but it is not far to the too-much field. The need of salt even the lower animals appreciate, yet too much is harmful.

We get some fluorine in milk, and other foods tend to contribute toward supplying our needs. Probably all potable water has some. But the limits are quickly reached and, after that, the picture is reversed. What was just now classed as a need becomes a source of harm.

Perhaps an even more important source of danger lies in eating fruits and vegetables that have been sprayed with insecticides that contain fluorides. In order to grow fruit profitably it is usually necessary to use sprays. Some of these contain fluorides. In all probability the Department of Agriculture will issue a bulletin on the advantages and disadvantages of insect sprays that contain fluorides. They may have done so already. This bulletin may tell us which sprays contain these salts and also give instructions for washing them similar to those they advise for apples that have been sprayed with arsenic solutions.

It has been claimed that the teeth of children can be protected when there is an excess of fluorides in their water and food by giving them a diet that is rich in lime, and by treating them with ultra-violet light.

RINGWORM ON FEET.

H. W. writes: I have had some experience with ringworm of the feet and I give much the most satisfactory remedy I have found. Dissolve six tablespoons (or thereabouts) of Epsom salts in a quart of fairly hot water. When this has cooled enough, put it in a pan and soak the foot in it for about 15 minutes. Dry. Apply tincture of iodine to the affected parts. The affected skin will turn black. In a day or two it begins to peel. This peeling process will be completed in less than two weeks. One treatment is usually all that is required. If the disease recurs, as ringworm of the foot is so likely to do, the treatment can be repeated.

Monte Blue Hero In Theater Blaze

Costume of Chorus Girl Catches Fire but Quick Action Saves Her.

Seattle, July 28 (A.P.).—Monte Blue, film actor, thrilled a matinee crowd here today in rushing to the stage from the wings to snatch a blazing costume off Wanda Stewart, a chorus girl. Miss Stewart's dress had caught fire from the footlights.

Blue was standing in the wings, not yet fully arrayed for his entrance, when the dress caught fire. He dashed to the stage, tore off the dress and extinguished the blaze by crumpling the clinging white material in his hands. It all occurred so quickly the stage manager did not have a chance to ring down the curtain. The audience, with an audible gasp, watched and then burst into applause.

Miss Stewart, unscathed by the flames, rushed off stage with Monte following. The orchestra never missed a beat, the chorus continued its number, Monte made his scheduled entrance and Miss Stewart slipped back into line in the chorus as the next number started.

Noted British Educator Deplores Modern Boy

London, July 28 (A.P.).—Cuthbert Blakiston, a widely known educator, shocked Great Britain today by denouncing the modern boy as timid, cowardly, untruthful, easily bored, vain and dishonest. Mr. Blakiston, headmaster of Lancing College, one of the nation's famous public schools, voiced all this criticism in a speech before the British Medical Association.

His talk caused a sensation, for England for centuries has been proud of her public school boys.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Hollywood designs a negligee for one of its stately stars—the top and skirt of black velvet, the sleeves and body of the gown in pale green, shirred georgette. Coque feathers trim it. (Selected in Hollywood.)

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., July 28.—Why is it that blue serge is so incorrigibly school girlish? Probably because most of us remember school uniforms, usually blue serge, and uniformly horrible.

Yet—there is something demurely youthful, wistfully chic, about blue serge today. It is being made in many a smart street dress for autumn, my deah—and always with the schoolgirlish uniform touch—in cut or buttons or sailor collar.

Lanvin especially sponsors blue serge. Dark blue in other materials, as well as serge, are her whim for autumn, too. A blue velour—a cotton velvet, that is—was one of her most chic models—cut on the lines we vaguely remember in our school uniforms, but certainly anything but uniformish in style!

White is second nature to navy blue, of course. And navy blue wool crepes, serges, all sorts of woolens, all usually have a touch of white in some fabric or other. Another of Lanvin's delightful models in navy blue wool had a white pique belt, white buttons, and was smartly worn by the mannequin with a white paillasson hat.

Next to white with navy, one remembers red. Sometimes red and brass buttons, too—other times red and white, or just red.

• • • •

And oh yes, navy gloves and shoes and accessories in general are still quite smart—perhaps not as smart as when they were first worn, but rather, have become staples in colors, and one chooses them now just as one chooses accessories in any other color—and wears them as often as not with garments other than navy blue.

• • • •

Would you like to make yourself a gayly colorful house dress? One that is really individual, truly chic, easily made, very cheap to make, and easily laundered? Well, if you would, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet—which tells you how to go about it. How cheap this new house dress is you can imagine when I tell you that you make it from five bandanna hankies—hankies—and how gay and chic, you can see for yourself.

• • • •

Tea gown, we called it, when we indulged in the gentle art of tea. Cocktail gowns became something else again—when it became more the habit to serve cocktails in cafes than at home. And now it's a negligee—yes, very much in favor these days are negligees. For miladi has learned the need of relaxing—all over again. And in what can one relax better than in a lovely negligee!

So-o-o-o-o-o, I just sketched a gorilicous negligee for you today—one that would contribute to some relaxing. The top and skirt of the softest black velvet—the body all of softly shirred pale green georgette—the trimming, of shiny black coque feathers. Isn't it a perfect dream?

• • • •

You hafta watch hat angles—just when you think you have hit upon a hat that might stay put for a few seasons, someone up and tips hats an altogether new way—and where are you, where are you? Well, I warn you watch hats for the coming season.

Au revoir.

Culbertson on Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON

390.

AN ACCESSORY BEFORE THE FACT.

IN Washington, the Capital of the United States, there lives a Bridge player who recently conducted a Duplicate game there. In the hands as they were dealt he inserted a hand from another source to demonstrate the vagaries of distribution, and then sat down with his charming partner (I do not feel at liberty to disclose the identity of the gentleman or whether or not it was his wife) to play the hand. The joker held the East cards pictured below, while his fair partner was West.

South—Dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

South bid only six spades, and when West took home the club Ace, the Declarer in the South spread her cards on the table, saying:

"The rest are mine."

"One minute," protested East. "Let's play this thing out."

"You are wasting time," South retorted, "but have your way," leaving her hand, of course, exposed.

And West, who has been playing Contract for some years, scanned the three hands for three or four minutes, heaved a sigh of resignation and laid down a trump.

My correspondent, in recounting this experience, said that the lady still lives, and submitted this knotty question in ethics:

Should she?

This I refuse to answer, because there is a law which punishes accessories before the fact.

Today's Pointer.

The practice of claiming tricks without being sure of ability to fulfill them is dangerous. The laws provide that when the Declarer claims the remaining tricks, or any number of them, he may be required to place his cards face up on the table, and may not take any finesse not already proved to be good, nor refuse to trump a doubtful trick.

Tomorrow's Hand.

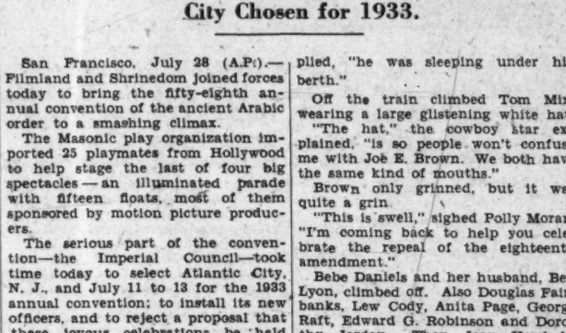
The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

North—Dealer.

Neither side vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

Movie Stars Help to Close Shrine Convention on Coast

Bancroft and Beery Among 25 From Filmland Taking Part in Big Parade of Floats; Atlantic City Chosen for 1933.

San Francisco, July 28 (A.P.).—Filmland and Shrinedom joined forces today to bring the fifty-eighth annual convention of the ancient Arabic order to a smashing climax.

The Masonic play organization imported 25 playmates from Hollywood to help stage the last of four big spectacles—an illuminated parade with fifteen floats, most of them sponsored by motion picture producers.

The serious part of the convention—the Imperial Council—took time today to select Atlantic City, N. J., and July 11 to 13 for the 1933 annual convention; to install its new officers, and to reject a proposal that these joyous celebrations be held triennially instead of annually.

Most of the city, however, was not aware the council was in session. The movie stars were the center of attraction.

Thousands of spectators saw the arrival of a Pullman load of motion picture celebrities, who were greeted by the governor, the mayor and other officials.

In the welcoming group were George Bancroft and Wallace Beery.

"Where's Buster Keaton?" some one asked Harold Lloyd, grand marshal of tonight's motion picture pageant and parade.

"The last I saw of him," Lloyd replied, "he was sleeping under his berth."

Off the train climbed Tom Mix, wearing a large glistening white hat.

"The hat," the cowboy star explained, "is so people won't confuse me with Joe E. Brown. We both have the same kind of mouths."

Brown only grinned, but it was quite a grin.

"This is swell," sighed Polly Moran. "I'm coming back to help you celebrate the repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

Finally Keaton appeared at a window.

"I can't find my ukelele," he wailed.

He never did find it, eventually dismounting with a tin yacht in his arms. He didn't explain its significance, but onlookers recalled he recently purchased a yacht for his wife, the former Natalie Talmadge, who since has brought suit for divorce.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LEO."

IF July 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 1:30 p. m. to 3 p. m., and from 7:40 p. m. to 9:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to noon, and from 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.

The signs on July 29 foretell a change for the better. There may not be a startling improvement, but conditions will give promises of assured progress. Travel, possibly abroad, is indicated. A problem that has been troubling you for some time past will adjust itself.

The child born on this July 29 will reflect the nature and disposition of those around it. A creature of environment, it will readily adapt itself to conditions. Its character will be subject to many changes, and more than usual care should be taken in seeing that its associates are of the "uplift," rather than the "downgrade" variety.

You, if born on July 29, are not a cheerful sort of person, as envious of others, you are always bemoaning your own fate. You, as a pessimist, find that all times are trying, and you forget that the optimist wins through by trying at all times.

You are too critically disposed, and in judging others forget that you live in a glass house where stone throwing is an expensive and a devastating experience. Without being perfect yourself, you expect to find perfection in others. It is the failings of man that link him with his brother. None of us is perfect; none of us has the heaven-born right to condemn or to judge.

Your disposition is not a gay one, and you are easily depressed. On the other hand, you possess latent ability and could accomplish much if you would permit your mentality the luxury of a sun bath instead of keeping it always in the shade.

You are superstitious and have in your "make-up" a strong religious streak, based more on fear of hell than love of heaven. Just without being merciful and sympathetic without being self-sacrificing, you are a living example of contradictions.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

Cunning and dainty is this new model. It is a blue and white crepe silk print, topped by a lighter plain crepe bodice of vivid red.

It affects a higher waistline, now so modish for grown-ups.

And it is the most simple thing in the world to fashion it.

It would look stunning under either a red or a blue coat for a spring ensemble.

Plain crepe silks, tweed-like cottons, linen and rayon novelties are extremely suitable and effective mediums for this dress. Price of pattern, 15 cents.

Style No. 2836 is designed for sizes 8, 10 and 12 years.

Size 10 requires 1⅝ yards 35-inch with ⅞ yard 35-inch contrasting.

CRACKED WHOLE WHEAT.

(Department of Agriculture.)

Whole grain wheat is highly recommended as an inexpensive and nutritious food which can be prepared in a variety of palatable ways. It is often cooked whole, either in boiling water, under steam pressure, over steam, or in a fireless cooker. To save time and fuel in cooking, the U. S. Department of Agriculture suggests cracking or crushing the whole wheat in a hand grinder. Some of the feed stores or mills sell cracked wheat as well as the cleaned whole wheat. The following recipes indicate how this cracked wheat can be used:

Cracked Whole Wheat Porridge.

2 cups cracked whole wheat
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups boiling water

Stir the cracked whole wheat into the boiling water until thoroughly mixed. Cook slowly over the direct flame for 20 or 30 minutes, and stir occasionally. The hot cracked whole wheat porridge may be poured into an oblong mold that has been rinsed with cold water. When cold cut into thin slices, and brown in hot fat in a frying pan. Serve hot with brown sugar sirup.

Whole Wheat Muffins.

2 cups cracked whole wheat
3 teaspoons baking powder.
3 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
¾ cup milk
2 tablespoons fat (melted or liquid)

Mix all the dry ingredients thoroughly. Beat the egg, add the milk, and stir with the fat into the dry ingredients. Do not stir the batter any more than is necessary. Bake in greased muffin pans for 25 to 30 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees to 425 degrees Fahrenheit). The egg may be omitted by increasing the milk to one cup.

Whole Wheat Cookies.

1½ cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¾ cup brown sugar
1-3 cup fat (melted or liquid)
½ cup chopped raisins
1½ cups cracked whole wheat
1 egg
6 tablespoons milk

Sift the flour, salt and spices. Mix the sugar with the fat and the raisins with the cracked whole wheat. Put all of these ingredients together and add the beaten egg and the milk. Stir until well mixed. Drop by teaspoonfuls, about 2 inches apart, on greased pans. Bake in a moderately hot oven (375 to 400 degrees Fahrenheit) from 10 to 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes about 36 cookies.

Great Smoky Park Allotted $509,000

Hoover and Wilbur Give Approval to Item in Relief Bill.

(Associated Press.)

A total of $509,000 of the $3,000,000 voted for national parks in the emergency relief bill will be expended in the Great Smoky Mountain National Park.

A. E. Demaray, assistant director of the park service, said yesterday that the allotment to the Great Smoky preserve had been approved by President Hoover and Secretary Wilbur. Demaray said he expected the surveys to be far enough advanced by the first of the year to award contracts for grading work on the road from Newfound Gap to Clingmans Dome. Demaray said that once these contracts were let that he expected work for completion of the highway along the North Carolina-Tennessee to proceed without interruption.

ALEXANDRIA BONDS TO FIRST NATIONAL

Bank Awarded Issue on Bid of 99.16 for $150,000 Par Value.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The First National Bank of Alexandria was the high bidder for the bond issue of $150,000 recently authorized by the city council. The bid of $148,593.75 was submitted by George E. Warfield, executive vice president of the bank, and was at the rate of 99.16. The bids were opened in public in the council chamber at noon yesterday. On motion of Councilman Herbert, the bonds were awarded to the First National Bank.

There were three other bidders: Mason Hogan, Inc., Richmond, Va., $148,519.78; Home Beneficial Association, Richmond, $146,819.94, and the Citizens National Bank of Alexandria, $145,800.

After the acceptance of the bid, Mayor Edmund F. Ticer said $97,350 of the money received from the sale of the bonds would go to the revolving rund of the city, and the remainder to finance a sewer project in Braddock Heights, to be built shortly at a cost of $14,000, and to pay an obligation of $26,000 due the United States Government on a part of the city's proportion of the cost of the Mount Vernon Memorial highway in Alexandria.

City Manager Lawrence reported he was advised by the State highway commission that the City of Alexandria will receive $13,605 for road work within the city limits each year under the Byrd road plan, which will allow for the paving of 9.07 miles of roadway. The city manager was instructed to report Monday the cost of the construction of a 28-foot roadway on the Alexandria-Washington pike from Washington avenue to Four-Mile Run, a distance of slightly more than 1¼ miles. When these figures are available the money from the State will be appropriated toward the reconstruction of this roadway. The new road will correspond with that built by the State north of Four-Mile Run, except that it will be 2 feet less in width. The present road is only 18 feet and has but two lanes of traffic, while the reconstructed road will accommodate three lanes.

A resolution appropriating $14,000 for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Braddock Hgights was introduced and held over under the rules until Monday. This sewer will vary in diameter from 8 to 18 inches and will be several thousand feet in length. A considerable revenue will be received by the city from persons tapping this sewer. It will extend from Russell road to Washington avenue and from Washington avenue to Russell road to Orchard street, thence to Braddock street, to Lloyds lane and Braddock road and Seminary View. The construction of this sewer has been contemplated for some time.

An application of Alvin F. McKenney for a permit to erect a gasoline filling station south of the southwest corner of Patrick and Franklin streets, on the west side of Patrick street, was denied.

At the meeting Monday the council will take final action on the rezoning to A residential the south side of Franklin street between Washington and Columbus streets.

A public meeting of the Alexandria Planning Commission will be held Thursday at 8 p. m., in city hall. The master map as proposed by the planning commission for the future development of the city, as well as the proposed park plan and other maps and data incident to the work of the commission, will be on exhibit.

The principal object of the meeting is to acquaint the public with the plan proposed by the commission and to obtain the views of all interested citizens prior to the adoption of the commission's plan by the city council.

Children from the Alexandria Children's Home and Day Nursery were guests of the Alexandria Lodge of Elks on their annual excursion yesterday to Marshall Hall, the proceeds of which will be devoted to charity. Last night the Elks Boys' Band played on the trip down the river.

The Knights of Columbus Home Association, of Alexandria, will give its third annual garden party on the lawn of the Xaverian Brothers School, at Washington and Queen streets, Monday and Tuesday. George W. Kimball is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Col. Woodcock Makes Liquor Scarce at Camp

Camp Ritchie, Cascade, Md., July 28.—Liquor is hard to get around these parts these days without proper identification. Several officers who went to a beer parlor ordinarily easy of access were refused admittance last night until they proved that Lieut. Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, Federal prohibition director, who is in camp here with the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, was not among them.

Other soldiers reported that liquor was hard to get in uniform and that even in civilian attire they had encountered difficulty because of the nearness of Col. Woodcock. Liquor purveyors fear that Federal agents are working in the neighborhood because of the presence of Woodcock, and are maintaining special safeguard.

COUNTY OFFICIALS VISIT GUARDSMEN

Montgomery Commissioners Inspect Encampment of State Troops.

Special to The Washington Post.

Camp Ritchie, Cascade, Md., July 28.—Montgomery County officials today paid a visit to county units of the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, in camp here for training. They were the guests of the Service Company, of Silver Spring, and the Howitzer Company, of Kensington.

County Commissioners John B. Diamond, Frank Ricketts, Downey Williams and Sherwood Duvall represented the board of county commissioners, several of whom were detained at home by county business. Others who were present were County Treasurer J. Forest Walker, clerk of the circuit court; Clayton K. Watkins, clerk of the county commissioners; Charles Y. Latimer and a number of civilians.

The visitors were guests of the Service Company at dinner, where they were given the same menu as that of the men—chicken, mashed potatoes, tomatoes, ear corn and lemonade.

Capt. Joseph C. Cisbel, regimental supply officer; Capt. Ward W. Caddington, and Lieuts. Louis Kreh, Edwin Warfield and Joseph A. Glover, of the Service Company, were in charge of the tour of the camp, during which the officials visited the men of the company and then watched the Remington and American Legion rifle matches.

The officials had supper with the Howitzer Co. as the guests of Capt. Clarence V. Sayer, and Lieuts. Michael Pugh and T. Parsons.

Company F, of Hyattsville, won both of the rifle matches held today. The Remington match for two-men teams was won by Lieut. H. T. MacClay and Sergt. N. H. Spicknall with a team score of 91. The American Legion match was won by a team composed of Sergts. C. H. Hayes, 196; F. M. Richard, 184; W. F. Thomas, 185, and E. C. Blackman, 183.

Westminster today nosed out Headquarters Company, Third Battalion, for first place in the kitchen inspection with a perfect score of 100.

ARLINGTON CITIZENS FORM ROAD GROUP

Committee of 100 Is Named to Fight Adoption of Byrd Measure.

Pursuant to the authority and direction of the executive committee of the Arlington County Civic Federation a committee of 100 representative citizens of Arlington County, who favor the withdrawal of the county from the operation of the Byrd road act, has been appointed.

William Clifton Hull, of the executive committee of the federation, is the general chairman.

The purpose of the committee is to disseminate information on the Byrd road act and to use its efforts in convincing the voters that it will be detrimental to the interests of the county to remain within the operation of the law.

Mr. Hull states that the committee has already done a considerable amount of preliminary work, and from now to election day, August 9, will conduct a vigorous campaign. "I am satisfied," he said, "that if the voters will analyze the matter they will reach the conclusion that it is poor business to turn our roads and streets over to the State."

The committee will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the Reese Building, at Clarendon, to discuss the campaign.

The committee consists of the following citizens:

Robert N. Anderson, E. L. Bennett, F. E. Mann, Grover K. Payne, Walter D. Varney, G. O. Basham, Mrs. Alice W. Semones, Harry A. Fellows, Dr. J. B. Gould, Charles R. Fenwick, Mrs. Harry E. ## Aid for Prince Georges Fire Companies Decided

The plan to divide the county aid to Prince Georges firemen on the basis of the number of pieces of apparatus owned by each company has been dropped, and all pumper and nonpumper companies will receive like amounts, it was announced by William R. Beattie, vice president of the county firemen's association.

Of the $15,000 given by the county, $1,000 will go to the rescue squad for the purchase of a new ambulance. Of the remainder, $7,700 will be divided among the pumper companies equally, while $6,300 will be shared equally by the other companies. Those departments whose pumpers do not meet the requirements of the standards committee of the association will be classed as nonpumpers.

Woman, Who Rang Bell As Agents Passed, Free

Two persons were arrested yesterday by Federal dry agents working in southern Maryland, and two more were released after a hearing when U. S. Commissioner J. Frank Parran decided that if a woman rang a bell when dry agents passed the house it did not mean she was trying to warn operators of a still.

Horace and Lulu Price were the couple freed.

Woodrow Wicks, of Charlotte Hall, was charged with transportation and possession of articles for the manufacture of liquor after a still was found in an automobile.

Thomas Gibson Saxon, of Jarboesville, was charged with running a 200-gallon still.

ARLINGTON WOMEN OPPOSE DISMISSALS

Ousting of 2 Clerks Draws Resolution From County Business Club.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Cla. 309. Clarendon, Va.

The Arlington County Business and Professional Woman's Club indorsed a resolution offered by the public relations committee, Mrs. Pearle W. Sharpe, chairman, condemning the action of the county clerk, John A. Petty, in the dismissal recently of two of his office force. The resolution reads:

"We disapprove the manner in which two employes of your office, Mrs. Lorena Ellis and Mrs. Mary Moore McIntosh, were discharged recently. While fully cognizant of your right to discharge your employes at any time, it is the opinion of the club that any individual being discharged should be given the courtesy of official notice at least two weeks in advance of the time of his or her discharge in order to afford a reasonable opportunity to secure other employment. The club also goes on record as protesting against the unnecessary harshness of the statement of the reasons for the discharge of Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. McIntosh as given to the press."

The Arlington County School Board last night received a delegation from the Ballston Parent-Teacher Association, who requested that the board either abandon the old Ballston school building or make necessary improvements so that it may be used in an emergency.

The board informed the committee that pupils in the grades which used the old building would be distributed to the Clarendon and Bon Air schools.

The board decided again to place the cafeteria at the Washington-Lee High School in charge of Mrs. Nita Broaddus, who has had charge of it since the opening of the building more than four years ago.

Struck by an automobile said to have been operated by William C. Hammond, of Ballston, Roy Biggs, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Biggs, suffered a broken collar bone, cuts about the head and body bruises.

A debate on the Byrd road act featured the meeting of the Arlington Rotary Club at its luncheon meeting yesterday at the Washington Golf and Country Club. Delegate to the General Assembly from Arlington County Hugh Reid took the affirmative side of the question, while the negative side was discussed by County Board Member Lyman C. Kelley.

ROAD PLAN DEBATED AT FAIRFAX MEETING

Morrisett and Reid Uphold System as Two Others Voice Opposition.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

C. B. Morrisett, Virginia tax commissioner, speaking at a mass meeting last night in the Madison School at Falls Church, Va., told the people that if they voted to withdraw from the new secondary State highway system that they would be at the mercy of the majority of the counties in regard to the future distribution of the State gasoline tax. Only fifteen counties are holding elections on August 9 to decide whether or not to withdraw and maintain their present county highway systems. The other 85 counties automatically remain in the newly created system known as the Byrd road act.

Commissioner Morrisett also explained the cause for the creation of the new system. He urged the people of Arlington and Fairfax Counties to vote to remain in the new system.

L. G. McNemara, of Arlington County, opposing the Byrd law, stated that he did not believe the people of northern Virginia would be intimidated by the threat of losing the gasoline tax made by the gentleman from Richmond.

Charles Pickett, of Fairfax, opposed the new system because it violates the principle of local self-government transferring the control to a commission in Richmond in which the people have no direct voice in the selection of the personnel of its members.

Delegate Hugh Reed, of Arlington, spoke in favor of remaining under the new system.

Delegate Edmund H. Allen, of Fairfax County, urged the people of the county to go to the polls and vote their own beliefs and convictions and ask them not to be influenced by "flowery speakers." He stated that when the law was being considered by the State Assembly, he realized the futility of voting against the measure as it had such great popular appeal as a tax relief effort benefiting the majority of the counties of the State, but he did not believe it wholely applicable to the conditions in northern Virginia, which are unique because of the counties' proximity to Washington. Mayor L. P. Daniel of Falls Church, presided over the meeting, introducing the speakers.

Foreign News in Brief

Paris, July 28 (A.P.).—Convicted of the murder of President Paul Doumer, whom he assassinated last May, Paul Gorguloff was taken to the death house in Sante Prison today to await execution on the guillotine.

Warsaw, July 28 (A.P.).—Six Polish army fliers were killed today in accidents during training flights. At Konin a pilot and his observer crashed and died. Almost at the same time two were killed in a crash at Lwow. This afternoon a third crash, killing two, occurred at Poznan.

Cheliadinsk, U. S. S. R., July 28 (A. P.).—Four young men were sentenced to be shot and eight others received prison terms here today following their conviction for a mass attack on a girl in Cheliadinsk Park.

Minto, New Brunswick, July 28 (U.P.).—The bodies of three boys who fell headlong into the 70-foot deserted shaft of a mine near here were brought to the surface today, raising the toll of dead at the mine to five, including two men who vainly attempted to save the youths.

Paris, July 28 (A.P.).—A decree made public tonight bars from France so-called "dubbed talking films" unless the process of post-synchronization into the French language is done in French territory. American film interests described the decree as a serious blow to the American film industry in France.

Prison Guard Indicted In Murder of Prisoner

Gainesville, Ga., July 28. (A.P.).—Bill House, Hall County convict guard, has been indicted for murder on testimony that he struck 19-year-old Lee Burel Maness, convicted of chicken stealing, on the head with a heavy piece of wood. The prisoner died a short time afterward.

House says he struck Maness as the latter attempted to escape. The guard is being held in the Hall County jail and has not made application for bond.

Edward J. Hein, U.S. Engraver, Dies

Noted Artist to Be Buried at His Former Home in Philadelphia.

Edward J. Hein, in charge of bank note picture engraving at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, died suddenly on Wednesday at Homeopathic Hospital.

Mr. Hein was born in Philadelphia, Pa., in 1874. He formerly engaged in his art work in Philadelphia and New York and came to Washington and entered employ of the Federal Government on October 10, 1918. His vingette bank note engraving on our currency, stamps and other securities had gained him a high place in bank note art circles of this country and abroad.

He was unmarried, a member of the Congressional Country Club and made his home with C. Melvin Sharpe, at 2930 Forty-fifth street northwest. Services will be held at Gawler's funeral parlors, at 1754 Pennsylvania avenue, at 5:30 this afternoon, and interment will follow in Philadelphia tomorrow.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE transition of international broadcasting from the developmental stage to that of a regular, dependable service is seen in the completion of facilities for handling programs between the United States and many foreign countries, including England, France, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Vatican City, Spain, Japan, Philippine Islands, Hawaii, Siam, Dutch East Indies, China, Venezuela, Argentina and Brazil.

According to W. A. Winterbottom, vice president of R. C. A. Communications, Inc., the recent addition of a special switchboard in New York now enables the coordination of foreign programs with the split-second schedules of this country's networks and individual stations. It places international programs on a basis that meets the close schedules of timing and high standards of quality now current in the United States.

Caribbean tunes, sung and played by the Porto Rican Sextet to the rhythmic beat of palitos sticks against gourds, will be the feature of the Kodak Hour (WMAL, 8 o'clock) tonight. The islanders will offer the Porto Rican "Love Song," "Palomita" and a medley of popular numbers, including "Marta" and "Siboney."

THREE addresses having a direct bearing on the political campaign of 1932 will be heard over WMAL tonight and tomorrow. The speakers will be James A. Farley, the Roosevelt campaign manager; Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, of Mississippi, and Col. Frank E. Webb, presidential nominee of the newly formed Liberal party.

Col. Webb, who was nominated at Kansas City when a half dozen political organizations joined to form the Liberty party, will speak on that party's platform at 5:45 o'clock today.

Senator Harrison will deliver "An Answer to Secretary Ogden Mills and Other Administration Spokesmen" at 9:30 o'clock.

Mr. Farley will be heard in "A Preview of the Campaign" during the Institute of Public Affairs at 9:15 o'clock tomorrow night.

Albeniz's "Spanish Rhapsody" will be broadcast for the first time in an orchestral arrangement by Rosario Bourdon during the concert at 7 o'clock. The rhapsody was written by Albeniz as a composition for two pianos and although it has been played as a piano concerto with orchestral accompaniment, this is the first time a full orchestral arrangement of the work has been heard on the air. Countess Olga Albani will sing a number of popular and semi-classical selections during the hour.

The Boswell Sisters have saved nearly every piece of fan mail they ever received. After replying to letters requiring answers, all the missives to the harmonizing trio are packed in bundles and sent to New Orleans for safe keeping in the Boswell attic.

A FAREWELL will be said to Musician Robert E. Clark, who is retiring after 30 years of service, during the Marine Band "Shut-In Hour" at 10 o'clock this morning. The trombone soloist will play the number, "May Blossoms," for which he has become best known during the hour, with "Dear Little Girl," written by his wife, Ruth G. Clark, as his final air performance.

Arthur Godfrey, WRC announcer, will pay a special tribute to Mr. Clark, as will Capt. Taylor Branson, leader of the Marine Band.

The Northern Dramatic Company (WOL, 8:30 o'clock tonight) will present a fifteen-minute version of "White Zombie," the dialogue continuity having been taken from the picture of the same name, which opens at Loew's Fox this morning.

Charles C. Gillman will have the leading role, created by Bela (Dracula) Lugosi on the screen, and the Madge Bellamy part will be in the hands of Miss Fritz Fiery. Ronald Dawson will direct the company.

The Rev. Edward H. Roach, of St. Matthew's Church, will be soloist on the program of the Catholic Evidence Guild over WOL at 4:30 o'clock today. Mrs. Frank O'Hara will speak today.

Slams Defeat Grobmeier At Park

McMillan Rallies to Triumph Before 6,000 Crowd.

Dusek Winner Over White Feather in Spirited Bout.

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

WITH Referee Benny Bortnick running interference, Fred Grobmeier appeared to be headed for a touchdown and victory over Jim McMillan in their wrestling match at Griffith Stadium. But McMillan, who had been lying prone on the mat, where Grobmeier had thrown him, suddenly picked up his 6-foot frame, hurled it at his opponent with all of the grid skill at his command, followed up with a body slam and held his advantage long enough to gain the decision.

The end came 36 minutes after an interesting tussle between the two that had the fans alternately booing, cheering and shouting advice to their favorite. Approximately 6,000 witnessed the proceedings.

Grobmeier's famed scissors hold had McMillan in trouble frequently during the bout. Three times the referee had tolled off two of the fatal three counts when the eventual winner squirmed to safety. McMillan's strong suit was body slams, which he usually topped off by throwing Grobmeier out of the ring. The latter also tossed his antagonist's frame out onto the dirt several times.

Dusek Wins With Body Slam.

Chief White Feather and Rudy Dusek used 40 of the 45 minutes allotted them to settle their difficulties, Dusek winning the verdict with another body slam. The two provided the real feature of the evening, their antics holding the crowd in suspense until the end.

Red Headed Pat O'Shocker pounded and twisted Johnny Maxos into submission after 18 minutes of a fairly rough match. Floyd Marshall gave the patrons an excuse for sounding their boos when he committed everything but mayhem on the person of Lew Plummer before the latter deposited his carcass on the canvas. The affair lasted 28 minutes. Jack Zarnas succumbed to Herman Hickman 22 minutes after the opening bout got under way when Hickman displayed a superior knowledge of tackling.

Alexandria Nine Wins Legion Title

Alexandria, Va., July 28.—Alexandria Legion Junior today won the undisputed junior baseball championship of the State in the American Legion series here by defeating Norfolk in the final game, 14 to 2, at Baggett's Stadium, before one of the largest crowds to attend a contest here in years.

Louis Hoy, athletic director of the American Legion in the State, announced after the fray that the Alexandrians would represent Virginia in the regional series at Columbia, S. C., on August 18 and 19.

To accomplish this honor of being State champions the Alexandrians were forced to play two games today. In the semifinal tussle this morning they walloped Martinsville Juniors with ease, 16 to 1.

Norfolk also copped the semifinal tilt by defeating Pulaski in a walkaway contest, 23 to 8.

PIRATES WIN 2, ADDING TO LEAD

Pound Out 10-7 and 9-1 Victories in Bill With Giants.

NEW YORK, July 28 (A.P.).—The Pirates had on their best slugging clothes today and bolstered their lead at the expense of the Giants, winning a double-header, 10-7 and 9-1.

Fred Fitzsimmons couldn't hold the four-run lead the Giants gained off the Pirate ace, Swetonic, in the opening game and the Corsairs came along with a rush to put the game beyond redemption, despite homers by Lindstrom and Ott.

The second game found the Giants virtually helpless at bat as the Pirates continued their slugging.

Browns Slam Crowder to Beat Nats

Stewart Checks Late Rallies to Win by 6 to 4.

Campbell and West Get Homers; Goslin Drives in 2 Runs.

Special to The Washington Post.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 28.—A long early lead, piled up against Al Crowder in the first five innings here today enabled the Browns to defeat Washington, 6 to 4, although Southpaw Walter Stewart weakened after blanking the Nats on two hits for six innings. As a result, the Browns took the series lead, two games to one.

Washington ultimately closed with eight hits, six of these being crowded into the last three innings. One of the punches was a home run by West and four others were doubles by Burke, Kingdon, Harris and Kerr. However, in each instance Stewart had enough in reserve, forcing the Nats to leave a runner marooned at second base in each frame.

The Browns counted all their runs off Crowder, three going across in the first inning, two in the fourth and the last in the fifth, which was Crowder's final round, after he gave away to a pinch batter, Kingdon, in the sixth. The Browns subsequently picked up two hits off Bob Burke to wind up with eleven for the day.

Goslin's Double Is Feature Wallop.

Jim Levey spearheaded the Brownie hitting with two singles and a double, but the decisive blows were supplied by Goslin, Stewart and Campbell. The Goose's double in the first made possible three runs. Stewart's single hammered in two more in the fourth and Campbell's home run ended the Browns' run-getting in the fifth.

Kingdon, who played third base after batting for Crowder, led his team with a single, double and a walk.

Goslin put his former comrades behind in the first inning. Scharein had led off with a walk. Burns appended a single. Crowder disposed of Campbell on strikes, but the Goose doubled off the pavilion screen in right center, his two mates tagging the plate. Goslin went to third on the throw home and scored on Schulte's long foul to Manush.

Pitcher's Single Scores Two.

Stewart's single, coming after Ferrell's and Levey's double, hammered home two runs in the fourth. Campbell's fifth home run of the season heading the fifth inning, completely cleared the right field pavilion. Goslin, next up, singled and Schulte beat out a bunt to Bluege, whose high throw to Kuhel enabled Goslin to take third. Kuhel had a collision at first base with Schulte and hurt his right knee, but remained in play. Crowder then braced, to prevent further scoring.

Washington's only base runners for six innings were Berg, Harris and Kingdon. Berg singled with one out in the third. Harris led off the fifth with a walk and Kingdon, batting for Crowder, singled to lead off the sixth. However, Stewart was so effective none of these runners got to second base.

Nats Score Three With Two Out.

Following West's homer in the seventh, after two were out, Burke doubled, but died on base. Kingdon, who played third base after batting for Crowder, doubledl n the eighth and counted when Manush singled. Two were out, but the uprising continued when Cronin walked, and scored in back of Manush on a double by Harris. West, though, fanned.

Leading the ninth, Kerr, batting for Burke, doubled. Scharein made a good play to retire Berg. Kingdon walked, but Kuhel fanned and Myer forced Kingdon for the final out.

Wood vs. Mangin In Seabright Final

Seabright, N. J., July 28 (U.P.).—Sidney B. Wood, jr., of New York, and Gregory S. Mangin, of Newark, N. J., partners on a recent tour of Great Britain, will be opponents tomorrow in the men's singles final of the Seabright Club's invitation tennis tournament.

Wood eliminated Lester Stoeffen, of Los Angeles, today in the semifinal, 5—7, 6—3, 6—2, 6—4, and Mangin came from behind to down Manuel Alonso, of New York, 7—9, 7—9, 9—7 and 7—5.

Mangin's gameness finally made up for his lack of speed, and he won out by breaking Alonso's service in the twelfth game of the final set. The 36-year-old Alonso seemed to feel the heat less than 24-year-old Mangin.

Miss Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Calif., second national ranking star, and Miss Josephine Cruickshank, Santa Ana, Calif., won their semifinals in the women's singles and will clash Saturday.

Joe Chaney Tries Fistic Comeback

Joe Chaney will try a comeback at Portner Arena, Alexandria, Va., Tuesday night.

The Baltimore boy is scheduled over the six-round route with Don Whitlock, picturesque Southern welterweight.

A brother of George ("K. O.") Chaney, one of the finest punchers in fistiana's history, Joe is remembered as a splendid boxer and a master of defense.

Headlining this show, which is being staged for the benefit of Alexandria Post, 24, American Legion, will be an eight-rounder involving Jimmy Toramberia and Nick Antonelli.

Interesting fours offer Doug Swetman vs. Bob Portna and "Kid" Groves vs. "K. O." Dodo.

Another four-rounder is being closed.

RUTH IS HERO IN 10-1 WIN OF YANKS

Hits 2 Homers and Drives in 7 Runs at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, July 28 (A.P.).—They called on Babe Ruth in a pinch today and he answered by hitting his twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth home runs of the season, driving in seven tallies and personally conducting the New York Yankees to a 10-to-1 victory over the Indians.

The Babe was hurried back into the starting line-up, although his injured leg, which has kept him out except for a couple of appearances as a pinch batsman since July 18, still troubled him, because Ben Chapman was taken ill.

Red Sox Beat Chisox For Third in Row, 2-1

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—Boston's Red Sox made it three in a row over the Chicago White Sox this afternoon when Eddie Durham beat Ted Lyons in a pitching duel, 2 to 1.

Hits by Olson and Oliver, followed by an infield out, let in a run in the first, but Chicago tied it in the second when Fothergill singled and Appling doubled.

Pickering, first up in the fifth, was safe at first on English's low throw. He took third on Warstler's single and scored as Connolly singled to right. Blue tripled with one out in the eigth, but Fothergill hit into a double play.

PAIRBYPAIR LUCKY WINNER IN ARLINGTON PARK FEATURE

Epithet Bows By Neck in Stretch

Place Horse, Crowded on Far Turn, Loses 10 Lengths.

ARLINGTON PARK, Ill., July 28 (A.P.).—Aided by a break which cost Epithet ten lengths, Mrs. John D. Hertz's Pairbypair today accounted for the long end of the $2,500 added North Shore Handicap at Arlington Park.

Jockey C. E. Allen, on Epithet, had to take up as the four-horse field neared the stretch, and the Warm Stable's star dropped almost out of contention. Allen staged a whirlwind drive after getting clear, however, and made up all but a neck. Masked Knight saved the short end of the purse, with Morsel fourth and last.

Pairbypair ran the mile in 1:36 4-5, and as second choice in the wagering, paid $13.30 to win.

The first disqualification of a winner during the meeting occurred in the fifth race, when Jockey Wayne Wright, who rode Cathop to a length victory over My Dandy, was suspended for fifteen days for rough riding, and his mount set back. My Dandy moved up to first place, with Sundot and Minton gaining the place and show spots by the disqualification.

The Crane, 7-1, Wins At Empire.

Empire City Race Track, N. Y., July 28 (A.P.).—A slow track prevailed here today as a result of heavy over-night rains, but the sport was keenly contested, despite the absence of a feature contest. The third race, a jaunt of a mile and 70 yards for platers 3 years and upward, attracted eight platers to the post. The winner turned up in The Crane, a 7-to-1 shot owned by Mrs. J. E. Nagle, which lasted to beat Regal Flag by a nose. Please, the favorite, finished third and might have won with better handling. The time was 1:46.

JOE AND ASBESTOS

(Watch Sunday's Post for New Secret Code) —By Ken Kling

Asbestos thought he had a hot one yesterday in Moms Polly, but the stable decided to scratch the animal. He got action at Thistledown, however, when Santerno ran second after he bet him win and show. The bank roll is now $59.44.

ASBESTOS' BETS: $3 to win on True Sentiment at Empire.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

ARLINGTON PARK, CHICAGO, JULY 28.

DEAR AL:

Getaway day is close at hand. Don't know whether you're trying to get more or trying to get out. Regardless, stick with me tomorrow. I feel a winning streak coming on. This can't go on this way forever. Had one winner yesterday and a flock in the cash circle.

These show promise elsewhere: Depression (one more chance), Hasola, Deemster, Black Diamond, Transgression, BILL.

FIRST RACE — MAROVICH, light weighted and No. 1 at the post, appears to have an edge over the juveniles to face the barrier in the opener. HELEN BAB may be the one to give the top fellow trouble. LOVELY HILLS to take care of the others.

SECOND RACE—FLIRTING is Mike's Three X special for tomorrow and I'll let him alibi if it doesn't step down. STINGER appears second best in this field. LERACK to show.

THIRD RACE — SARAZEN II looks capable of taking down the long end of this purse, and it looks like FERVOR will have a prominent part in this battle. These carry like weights of 112 pounds. SAWDUST should beat the remainder.

FOURTH RACE—KNEE HIGH, carrying his usual light package (this time 100 pounds), should pay a good price to defeat these—something I believe he can do. ENGLEWOOD should place again regardless of track conditions. MARLENE may ankle into third place.

FIFTH RACE — RENEWED was scratched yesterday with this race in view. Gets in with a feather and appears mighty formidable. WATCH TOWER may cause some trouble. CLEAN PLAY to chase this pair home.

SIXTH RACE — PLAYDALE meets the improved ANNIMESSIC here. Both have improved on these grounds and I look for a keen battle all the way. PROSE AND POETRY for the lesser award.

SEVENTH RACE—LAWYER should win this or we'll sue him. That's what my friend Mike says. I'm stringing along. WEE DROP to beat WRIGLEY FIELD for third.

Stocks Continue Advance Despite Profit-Taking Rush

Cheerful Trading Results in 2,723,325-Share Sale and Wide Gains.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—The securities markets surged upward again today, with stocks marking substantial net gains, in the face of a flood of profit taking.

The stock market came the closest to a 3,000,000-share day so far in 1932, with a turnover of 2,723,325 shares, the largest since December. It gained considerable support from the strength of bonds, which attracted the most active buying in weeks. Shares fell back somewhat in the last hour, however, but speculators for the rise were encouraged by a slackening in the volume of trading as the market eased off.

Net gains in a number of leading shares ranged from 1 to more than 4 points, but the price index of 90 issues advanced only 1.4 points, against 2.2 yesterday.

The move in r ares was helped by the pronounced strength of the American dollar in the foreign exchange markets, suggesting a return flow of gold, which, while not actually needed, might facilitate the credit expansion program of the reserve system.

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation in announcing its quarterly deficit after charges was no larger than expected, and unlike U. S. Steel, the corporation was actually able to break even from operations.

American Telephone was a leader, surging up 5½ points to 88, and closing a point under the top.

U. S. Steel preferred rose 2¾, then slipped back 2. The common finished a shade higher. Net gains of around a point appeared in such issues as General Motors, American Can, New York Central, Consolidated Gas, Pacific Lighting and others.

Stocks.

Bonds.

Prices mounted six-tenths of a point in larger trading volume. Corporate issues maintained popularity.

Curb.

Gains of former sessions kept up in face of selling for profits. Turnover was 260,000 shares.

Wheat.

Values increased as speculation took lead in pit trading. At one time gains mounted to 7 cents per bushel, before being cut by profit taking.

Cotton.

Advances up to $1 per bale were reduced to a few points by a rush of profit selling. Liverpool reported buying.

FOREIGN MARKETS.

(Associated Press.)

London—A good undertone developed on the stock exchange on cheery Wall street news which helped improve transatlantic issues. Steady purchases of war loan issues and other gilt-edged securities, including Indian shares, continued. Iron, steel and oil shares were prominent features and the close was firm.

Paris—The firm closing in New York and the rise in metals stimulated prices on the bourse which were firm despite monthly settlement liquidation. French rentes and international issues were steady and bank shares strong. The market closed firm.

Berlin—Trading was inactive and prices uncertain on the boerse due to the coming elections.

WAITING FOR CREDIT HIT BY ECONOMISTS

Opinion Shared Bank Loans Must Be Liquidated as Recovery Move.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Businessmen who are awaiting an expansion of bank credit as an indication that times are actually improving are needlessly retarding this improvement, in the opinion of Gage P. Wright, editor of the Business Economic Digest. Some economists, even, share the opinion that bank loans must be thoroughly liquidated before any sustained advance of business activity can occur, but, according to Mr. Wright, history proves that much of the liquidation entailed by a depression occurs after business and security prices have begun a permanent advance.

"A survey of changes in banking credit in the previous period of depression discloses quite the opposite, in fact," says Mr. Wright. According to the editor, commercial loans of all reporting member banks decreased from $8,167,000,000 in the first week of July, 1921, to $7,002,000,000 in the first week of July, 1922. Despite this liquidation of $1,165,000,000 of commercial credit, business activity, as measured by Wright's Consolidated Index of Business Activity, advanced during the period from 78.1 per cent of normal to 96.8 per cent of normal. Loans secured by collateral decreased from $3,526,000,000 in July, 1921, to $3,526,000,000 in September, rose to $3,617,000,000 in November.

Dollar Mounts as Europe Buys American Currency

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—The usually orderly foreign exchange market was churned up considerably in early dealings today, the American dollar bounding forward sharply at times as large purchases of the American currency were made from abroad.

Bankers reported buying of dollars was largely in settlement of recent European purchases, notably English and French, of securities in the New York bond and stock markets.

After fairly lively trading as the local market opened for business, the action of foreign currency prices turned more orderly, with the dollar holding most of its early gains.

Well informed bankers stated there were indications that increased shipments of gold might be made soon from Europe to this country.

Curb Prices Are Higher In 260,000-Share Sale

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—With total sales of 260,000 shares for the day, the same as yesterday, the curb market today resumed its advance after an early flurry of profit-taking had been absorbed.

Active trading centered in the utilities, and floor reports indicated that some of this activity represented short covering as well as new purchases. Utilities, particularly the preferred shares, were generally higher.

Electric Bond & Share common moved up ⅝ net to 9⅛, getting above 9 for the first time on the current move. The 6 per cent preferred was up 2 points to 30. American Gas zig-zagged in a 2-point range in active dealings, closing a fraction lower.

Speculative buying for the rise was attributed to further firmness of wheat prices. Parker Rust Proof and Pepperel Manufacturing were a point or more higher.

Bonds Repeat Upturns As Trading Increases

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Trading volume increased substantially in the bond market today as all classes of corporate securities continued to add to their recent gains.

The day's turnover aggregated $13,568,000, par value, the largest since June 29, and the average for 60 selected bonds advanced six-tenths of a point.

While the railroads maintained a large following of traders and investors, the industrials stepped forward for the largest average gains of the session.

Communications Co. Bonds led the utility group, with those of American Telephone, International Telephone and Western Union in exceptional demand.

Most of the lower price carriers advanced from 1 to 3 points, with Santa Fe 4s up as much as 6; Atlantic Coast Line 4½s, 7; Pennsylvania debenture 4½s, 3½, and Wisconsin Central 4s, 5 points.

WHEAT VALUE GAINS IN BUYING PRESSURE

Speculation Takes Lead in Pit Trading; Corn Sells Off; Oats Up.

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—Speculative buying ardor ran high in the wheat pit today, and prices went strongly upward the third day in succession.

Jumps in securities at New York, persistent lack of rain both sides of the Canadian border, were incentives to purchase. Toward the last, profit-taking sales caused a reaction from the day's maximum advance of 2¼ cents.

Wheat closed upsettled, ⅝ to 1 above yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅝ off; oats ⅝ to ⅞ up, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents down. A rise of more than 7 cents a bushel from the all-time low-price record for wheat last week was shown before the market reacted.

Toronto, July 28 (A.P.).—Saskatchewan is on the road back, expecting to produce a crop of 200,000,000 bushels of wheat, stated Premier J. T. M. Anderson of Saskatchewan today. He discredited reports from Saskatoon that farmers in some areas of the wheat province would take active steps to defend their farms and homes against sales and evictions.

COTTON'S ADVANCES REDUCED BY SELLING

Octobers Close at 5.91 as Market Is Curbed by Profit Taking.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Cotton was more active today and prices moved over a range of about $1 per bale. Fluctuations were feverish and, after an early advance of 15 to 19 points, values reacted under heavy profit-taking.

Showers over a large part of the Eastern belt caused renewed apprehension of boll weevil damage and the firmness in wheat and stocks combined with reports of increased activity in textiles resulted in a more general demand while a feeling of uncertainty relative to the methods to be used by the Farm Board in marketing its surplus stocks caused longs to take profits. The October position sold down 3 points early to 5.87, advanced to 6.09, the highest point reached since July 8, and closed at 5.91, a net advance of 1 point, while the general market closed barely steady at 2 points net higher to 2 points net lower.

A private crop report placed the condition of the crop as of July 25 at 68.2 per cent with an indicated yield of 12,525,000 bales, which compares with last year's final crop of 17,096,000.

Liverpool cabled that the market there had been influenced by scattered buying and local covering and month-end calling, but stated that Manchester was disturbed over the possibility of spread in the textile strike.

BETHLEHEM STEEL DIVIDEND OMITTED

Preferred Stock Payment of $1.75; National Nets All Fixed Charges.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Bethlehem Steel Corporation today omitted the quarterly dividend of $1.75 a share on its cumulative preferred stock. Payments on the common shares were dropped six months ago.

For the second quarter of 1932 the company had a deficit after interest charges and depletion and depreciation allowances, of $4,671,266 against loss of $3,685,769 in the first quarter and net income of $1,452,743 for the second 1931 period.

Income before charges was $271,174, against earnings of $1,431,657 in the first three months of this year and $6,394,057 in the quarter ended June 30, 1931.

Operations averaged 18 per cent of capacity in the second quarter against 23.4 per cent in the first and 41.5 per cent a year ago.

Orders on hand June 30 were valued at $28,724,004, compared with $35,372,318 on March 31 and $57,334,-794 on June 30, 1931. Current operations were placed at 13 per cent.

For the six months ended June 30, the National Steel Corporation reports earnings in excess of dividend requirements and more than 2¼ times fixed charges. At the same time net earnings for the period showed a substantial drop, in comparison with the same six months last year. The total was $1,153,799, equivalent to 53 cents a share, against $3,459,376, or $1.60 a share, in the 1931 half year. Earnings in the quarter ended June 30 were equal to 26 cents a share compared with 27 cents in the first quarter.

The Allegheny Corporation reports net loss of $13,695 for the second quarter of 1932 against net income of $870,713, exclusive of an $821,589 loss from the sale of securities, in the similar quarter last year. Six months' income totaled $250,403, exclusive of a loss of $11,940,505 on security sales, compared with $2,082,350, exclusive of $1,084,947 loss from the sale of securities, in the 1931 period.

For the second quarter of this year the Chesapeake Corporation reports net income of $1,534,280 against $1,-641,516, exclusive of $2,305 profit from the sale of securities in the same 1931 period. Six months' income aggregated $3,060,476, exclusive of $294,051 securities sale loss, compared with net income of $3,318,316, exclusive of securities profits of $3,640 in the first half of last year.

MAN IN ALLEY SHOT FROM THIRD FLOOR

Another Hunted as Assailant Outruns Police After Spirited Chase.

Two shots in the night and a mysteriously wounded man in the dimly-lighted alley in the rear of the 1100 block of Twelfth street northwest, provided melodrama for nearby residents last night.

After the shots, police and citizens found Charles Hicks, 46, of Denver, Colo., lying in the alley. He said he was waiting for a friend when someone shot him from an apartment window.

Detectives learned that the shots came from the third floor of 1125 Twelfth street northwest. There they learned from Mrs. May Dixon that a man had been seen lurking in the alley.

Mrs. Dixon called the janitor of the apartment, Jesse Morgan. He got a rifle and fired two shots to scare the man away, she said.

Detective Sergts. Van D. Hughes and Thomas Bragg were unable to find Morgan. In searching his quarters, however, they seized a revolver, a rifle and a shotgun.

Meanwhile Detective Sergt. Hugh Robey was in the alley keeping a lookout for Morgan. An unidentified colored man sauntered through. Robey asked him to halt.

The man took one fleeting glance at Robey and ran like a greyhound, the detective close behind. When Robey saw he was not a match in fleetness he fired a shot at the ground, hoping to halt the man.

This shot and another served only to accelerate the man's speed. He rapidly drew away from the officer and the crowd of citizens who took up the chase. When last seen he was heading north on Thirteenth street.

Hicks was removed to Garfield Hospital and treated for a wound to the right leg. His condition was undetermined.

Nurse Recovers Stolen Baggage

Washington Woman Will Not Prosecute Two Held in New York Theft.

Baggage valued at $600 stolen from Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick, a registered nurse, of 1450 Girard street northwest, on the Ile de France last Tuesday, after the ship docked in New York, has been recovered, it was learned last night.

Miss Fitzpatrick said she would not prosecute two men being held in connection with the theft. They are Alexander Pressman a seaman, and Michael Click, who told authorities he was a former amateur light heavyweight boxing champion of the British Isles.

The men are said to have represented themselves as telegraph messengers. Pressman was arrested after he had been followed into a stateroom on the liner Deutschland. He had a sheaf of bon voyage messages in his hand and was wearing a messenger's uniform, it was reported.

RENT INQUIRY GROUP TO ASK FOR 3 AIDS

Apartment House Survey May Necessitate Use of Policemen.

The District Commissioners will be called upon to furnish three aids in the rent investigation being conducted by the subcommittee of the Senate District committee, it was decided at a meeting yesterday.

The Commissioners will be asked to make a survey of vacancies in Washington apartment houses to determine to what extent landlords are allowing their places to remain unrented in order to keep prices up. It will be suggested that policemen be used to make the survey.

A new survey will also be asked on the alley situation.

The assessor's office will be requested to check on valuations and assessments in order to compute the profits from rents in the Capital.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics will be asked to furnish comparisons between Washington and other cities as to the rate of rents, the cost of commodities and construction costs.

Kiwanians Are Hosts To Fox Theater Band

Stirring marches capably executed by the youthful members of the Fox Cadet Band livened the weekly luncheon meeting of the Washington Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Raleigh yesterday.

Introduced to the club by President Edwin F. Hill, Bandmaster J. B. McKenzie proudly announced there now were 267 boys and girls in the Fox Band, ranging from 7 to 19 years of age. He said that it is his hope to build the band to 500 youthful players and invited the Kiwanians to help him win recruits.

Harry E. Field, manager of the National Casket Co., was formally welcomed into the club as a member by Kiwanian Harry G. Kimball.

Woman Is Injured When Autos Collide

Mrs H. M. Spoonnoward, of 1840 Mintwood place northwest, was treated at Georgetown Hospital yesterday for lacerations of the scalp received when the auto in which she was riding was in a collision with another car at Bradley Lane and Maple avenue.

Mrs. Spoonhoward was a passenger in a car driven by Helen L. Snow, of 6223 Utah avenue northwest, while the other machine was being operated by Beatrice L. Wine, of 1428 A street southeast.

ITALIANS OF CAPITAL TO HONOR GARIBALDI

Celebration Sunday Night to Be Joined With Program on Bicentennial.

The combined Italian societies and clubs of Washington will commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the death of Giuseppe Garibaldi and the George Washington Bicentennial with a program in the auditorium of the Department of Commerce at 8 o'clock Sunday night.

One of the features of the dual celebration will be talking pictures of the recent unveiling of a statue of the Italian liberator in Italy recently. The official Bicentennial talking pictures also will be shown.

Nobile Giacomo de Martino, Ambassador from Italy, and members of his staff will be present. Invitations to attend have been sent to the President, the District Commissioners and officials of the Bicentennial Commissions.

Dr. Raphael Manganaro will act as chairman at the celebration. Judge John J. Freschi, of New York City, will address the gathering on "George Washington," and Michael Strizzi will speak on "Garibaldi." The United States Army Band Orchestra will present a musical prgoram.

ANOTHER ARRESTED IN KILLING OF HENRY

Henry A. Donnelly Is Seized; 10 Persons Taken Since Start of Round-Up.

The police round-up of persons for questioning in connection with the shooting of "Milsie" Henry was continued yesterday with one more arrest, that of Henry A. Donnelly, of 1345 A street northeast.

According to Inspector Frank S. W. Burke, chief of detectives, the round-up is being made to try to get an insight into the gangland slaying of Henry, who was a former employe of a Bladensburg road gambling house.

James A. La Fontaine, 62, described by police as the proprietor of an alleged gambling house in Maryland, was one of the first arrested in the drive. He was released after questioning. Since the start of the drive last Tuesday, ten have been arrested and released after questioning, except Donnelly, who is being held for investigation.

Two alleged Philadelphia gamblers, Charles Harris and Henry Davis, are held in the District Jail, charged with the actual murder of Henry. Police are working on the theory that a "pool" of local gamblers hired the two men to put Henry on the spot because of his alleged activities in holding up gambling establishments.

ELECTRIC HEARINGS AWAIT RATE APPEAL

Court Ruling on Consent Plan Called Victory for Commission.

The Public Utilities Commission will not issue a call for a public hearnig on electric rates on the basis of the new sliding scale until it is determined whether the Potomac Electric Power Co. will file an appeal from the decision of Justice Oscar R. Luhring announced in District Supreme Court yesterday.

The decision was a complete victory for the commission and People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech, who insisted from the first upon the abrogation of the old consent decree under which electric rates were fixed for seven years. William A. Roberts, special counsel, handled the case for the utilities body.

When the last electric rate reduction was ordered, the first of this year upon a compromise offer of the power company, it was understood that the new rates would be subject to change if the order setting up a new sliding scale were sustained.

The court made a slight modification in the sliding scale, but with the consent of the commission. This was explained by the commission as follows:

"A modification of the sliding scale fixed by the commission was made in accordance with that recommended in the commission's brief so as to result in the application of one-half the excess above 7 per cent of the rate base when the return was between 7 and 8 per cent, an additional amount of three-fourths of 1 per cent of the excess above 8 per cent when the return was between 8 and 9 per cent, and a further additional amount of five-sixths of the excess above 9 per cent when the return is above 9 per cent. This should be compared with the commission's sliding scale in order No. 919 of one-half of the total excess above 7 per cent when the return was between 7 and 8 per cent, three-fourths of the total excess above 7 per cent when the return was between 8 and 9 per cent, and five-sixths of the total excess when the return is over 9 per cent."

The commission estimated that original sliding scale would have made $1,174,749 available for reduction in rates for the year 1931, as against $567,043 under the consent decree, and $945,071 under the scale sanctioned by the court. For the year which ended June 30 last, the amounts made available by the three methods are: Commission scale, $1,082,396; consent decree, $505,061; court order, $837,701.

Street Car Passenger Collapses and Dies

While riding on a street car at Dupont Circle yesterday afternoon, Joseph F. Tennant, 52 years old, of 3003 N street northwest, was taken suddenly ill and died before he could be taken to Emergency Hospital.

His body was removed to the morgue and an inquest will be held probably tomorrow. There were no suspicious circumstances surrounding the death.

Creditors Must Not Use Post Cards for Dunning

Creditors using post cards to try to collect debts run a risk of receiving a fine of $5,000 or a prison term of five years.

The cards may bear a "respectful request" for settlement, but must say nothing of balance due. Since the 3-cent stamp was issued there has been a deluge of post-card debt reminders, according to the Postoffice Department.

Steam-Roller Parts Stolen.

Even steam rollers are not exempt from theft, it seems.

Col. Thomas Hampton reported to Montgomery County police yesterday that his roller, parked on Offutt road, had been robbed of about $40 worth of parts.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

ANY ONE in the vicinity of Loew's Fox Theater yesterday morning might have been pardoned for the assumption that a multiple Kate Smith was still tugging away at that moon!

As a matter of fact, it was merely a rehearsal of the Fox Free Military Band with Kate's signature ballad, "When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain" as the particular object of the youngsters' collective enthusiasm.

A rather remarkable organization, that Fox Free Military Band, with its total enrollment of 267, an actual playing personnel of 150 and an ultimate goal of 500.

During a recent call in this office, Capt. J. B. McKenzie, organizer and director of the band, explained something of the method by which he is able to foster the development of as many as 20 of these juvenile organizations simultaneously in various parts of the country. Strong reliance is placed on the appeal of military discipline and hard-boiled tactics to awaken something of the martial spirit in the child breast. Once a semimilitary mode of conduct has been established, interest is kept at high pitch by a constant injection of novelty into what otherwise might easily become a deadly monotonous routine—especially with the moving spirit not even resident in the community in which the given band is assembled.

I doubt if any one not possessing Capt. McKenzie's advantage of Army background, and experience as a member of the faculty of more than one military school—not to mention a thorough grounding in music and ensemble musicianship—could even remotely approximate the miracles he is able to work with raw recruits, some of whom are such tiny tots that you'd scarcely expect them to be able to lift a piccolo!

Although Capt. McKenzie's biggest band is in Newark, N. J., where 200 kids play regularly, and several are scattered around Greater New York, he is seriously contemplating moving his family to Washington and making the Capital his permanent home.

Having inaugurated an innovation by continuing the "Learn to Swim" week recently celebrated throughout the District indefinitely at its Crystal Pool, where free instruction in both swimming and life saving is being given daily by expert tutors, the management of Glen Echo Park on Sunday is announcing another novelty for Monday and Tuesday, August 1 and 2, that will be of especial interest to dancers of the distaff persuasion.

This morning at 10 o'clock Carter Barron, city manager of the Loew interests in Washington, will demonstrate that Loew's Fox has so much entertainment to offer that it can not all be presented in the theater. At the hour named, "The Great Maurice" and "Madam X," acrobats, will put on an exhibition, perched precariously on the ledge immediately surmounting the marquee on the F street facade of the theater. This will be by way of a bit of ballyhoo for "White Zombie," the eerie voodoo fable of Haiti's revitalized cadavers, the gist of which will be broadcast over the air at 8:30 this evening. Between the hours named it is possible to be scared to death by the picture as it unreels on the [illegible] screen.

It just goes to show the impetuous spirit of youth. Yesterday when the military went into action and Pennsylvania avenue took on something the atmosphere and aspect of 1917, it was with difficulty that the Earle management kept Bette Davis on the premises to make her scheduled personal appearances with Warren William. She was all for dashing right down to Third street and stopping a few bricks with her chin! She did get there once, but was soon whisked back uptown where she belonged.

And since you bring the matter up, certainly no one can seriously contend that the B. E. F. wasn't treated with every consideration by the District, up to the time its junket converted itself from a friendly expedition in quest of relief into a hostile army of invasion.

So what?

LATINS ILL FEELING TOWARD U. S. CITED

Expert on Hispanic Affairs Gives Three Reasons for Shift in Sentiment.

Three reasons why Latin-American countries have changed from a feeling of enthusiastic good will to active dislike for the United States were given yesterday by Dr. Louis Martin Sears, of Purdue University, before the conference on Hispanic affairs at the George Washington University.

The attitude of the United States toward insurgents was given as one reason. He pointed out that in the war of the Pacific the United States, pursuing its traditional diplomacy, supported "poor Peru" against victorious Chile.

"This not only drove the barb a little deeper in the case of Chile," he said, "but resulted in creating ill will in Peru, as the United States did not live up to Peruvian expectations in the matter of active support."

The rigid penetration of American financiers in South America was mentioned by the speaker as the second source of irritation.

"American business methods," he asserted, "especially the hasty American system of expecting a contract within two hours after meeting a man, is against the ingrained Latin nature."

Third in the group of indictments responsible for the shifting attitude of the Latin-American toward the United States is the personnel of Americans encountered south of our lines, according to Dr. Sears.

"Too often the type of American who leaves our shores in search of liquor is met," he said. "The American movie with its representation of depraved high life has done no good."

Much is being done to rectify the feeling of unfriendliness toward the United States," he said.

Miss Heloise Brainerd, director of the division of intellectual cooperation of the Pan-American Union, told the conference new currents and ideas concerning education are spreading rapidly in South America, despite the conservative influence of governments.
